GUNS BOMBARD CITY

Act Changes Wang's Neutral Stand And He Wars On Anfu Troops

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Hankow, July 18.—Dramatic military incidents have been occurring with bewildering frequency in and around Hankow during the past few days.

General Wang Chan-yuan, military tuchun of Hupeh, has frustrated a sensational attempt to assassinate him, made by the Anfu General, Wu Kwang-hsin, and has imprisoned his enemy in the Wang yamen here.

Upon the receipt of this news, General Wu's troops moved against Hankow, but they were met by the Commissioner of Occupation, Doo Shih-chun, at the head of a superior force, and overwhelmingly defeated.

HEAVY CASUALTIES

The battle, in which many casualties were sustained on both sides, was waged at the railway station on the outskirts of Hankow. The firing—it was largely a machine-gun engagement—began at 9:20 last night and was plainly audible all over the city.

In consequence, a tremendous flux of panic-stricken natives, into the Foreign Concessions—to which protection has been guaranteed—began at 10 o'clock and is still continuing. All the shops in the city are closed tight and business is entirely suspended.

CHANG CHIN-YAO FLEES

General Chang Chin-yao has fled, after denying any connection with the Anfu schemes of General Wu, and his whereabouts are unknown.

The backbone of the Anfu aspirations in Central China appears to have been completely broken.

Wu Kwang-hsin's attempt on General Wang's life was spectacular. In the midst of mobilisation for a pitched battle with the troops of the military Governor, General Wu suddenly issued invitations to a dinner at the Manchurian Guild at Wuchang, especially urging General Wang to be present, in order that a compromise might be affected.

WANG WAS WARY

But Wang Chan-yuan was suspicious, and stayed away. It was well that he did, for the real purpose of the feast was his murder, and that of his lieutenants, by assassins in the pay of Wu, armed with revolvers and bombs and stationed at strategic points around the guild-hall.

Wu, enraged at Wang's refusal to fall into his trap, rushed to the latter's yamen with a few men, armed as above, and demanded an audience with the Tuchun.

Instead, he and his fellow-assassins were seized by Wang's guard and thrown into the dungeons of the yamen, where they remain. Eighty of Wu's guards, stationed at the guild-hall, were simultaneously arrested by Wang's troops after a brief but sanguinary struggle.

ORDERED AN ADVANCE

Immediately thereafter Wang Chan-yuan ordered the mobilisation of all his troops and a parade of force through the city. He also commanded Commissioner Doo Shih-chun to advance against Wu's army, even then approaching Hankow along the Kinhan terminus.

Meanwhile the population of the native city became panic-stricken

The Military Governor of Hupeh, who together with the other Yangtsze Tuchun, has thrown in his lot with the Chihlians in their campaign against the Anfu gang. General Wang and the two other Yangtsze leaders, Tuchun Li Shun of Kiangsu and Chen Wan Kwan-yuan of Kiangsi have up to recently stood neutral.

But the attempt of Wu Kwan-hsin, the little brother-in-law of the Anfu war lord, Tuan, to murder him and take over his province, has enraged him and he is now anti-Anfu, after causing Wu's arrest and the capture of a number of his lieutenants, including Chang Chin-yao, former Tuchun of Hunan.

Wu Kwang-hsin Overwhelmed

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Hankow, July 18.—The troops of the Anfu general, Wu Kwang-hsin, have been routed and overwhelmed by the army of General Wang Chan-yuan.

Both Wu's 18th division, which was repulsed by Wang when they attacked Hankow on the evening of July 16, and the Anfu troops stationed at Seven-Mile-Creek, near the race-course, have surrendered, been disarmed and sent north by Wang.

The Hupeh Tuchun is receiving congratulations for thus accomplishing the downfall of the Anfu forces in this district.

CONSTANTINOPLE WILL BE SEIZED IF TURKS ARGUE

Allies Emphatic Reply To Moslems Recalls Latters' Crimes

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 17.—The Allied reply to the Turkish note with reference to the Turkish treaty declines to modify the clauses relating to Thrace, Smyrna, the Syrian frontier or Armenia.

Regarding the regime of the Straits the reply says emphatically that there can be no question as to the necessity of taking effective measures to prevent another betrayal of the cause of civilisation by a Turkish Government; but that the Allies have decided to grant the Turkish request, as a riparian Power, for the right to appoint a delegate on the Straits Commissions.

TURKEY'S SINS

The reply emphasises that Turkey's intervention in the war prolonged the conflict by at least two years, causing a loss to the Allies of several millions of lives and thousands of millions of pounds.

It recalls the Turkish atrocities in Bulgaria, Macedonia and Armenia, as showing the necessity for ending the Empire of the Turks over other nations; and declares that, if Turkey refuses to sign the peace—or still more, if she is unable to re-establish her authority in Anatolia—the Allies may be driven to reconsider the arrangement with reference to Constantinople (with regard to which the Allies had grave doubts) by ejecting the Turks from Europe once and for all.

The Turks are given till July 27 to sign.

MAIL TAKEN OFF EMPRESS OF ASIA AT CANADA PORT

Failure Of Letters And Papers To Arrive Is Not Explained

More than 6,000 sacks of British, American and other mail were taken off the Empress of Asia at Vancouver just before she sailed, according to passengers who arrived in Shanghai on the steamer Sunday. No reason has been assigned by local representatives of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services for the action in delaying the mail, although their ship was held in port for several hours while the bags were being unloaded.

It was a great disappointment to the foreign colony on Sunday when it was learned that the long-expected mail from the Empress was not to be forthcoming. The disappointment increased when it was announced that it was not likely that there would be another mail in before August 3. The Kashima Maru is due on that date and it is hoped that the mail delayed at Vancouver will make connections that will make possible its delivery on that date.

As a result of the unusual situation there is speculation as to whether it will be possible to send out mail on the Empress of Japan on July 23.

GERMANS AGREE TO SHIP COAL IN ACCORDANCE WITH DEMANDS

Spa Conference Ends With Complete Surrender To Allied Authority

MINERS FILE PROTEST

Must Work Extra Hours To Produce Required 6,000,000 Tons

(Reuter's Service)

Spa, July 16.—The Conference concluded this evening, after a statement by Mr. Lloyd George emphasising that he was opposed to military intervention. Failure to carry out the coal conditions, he said, would be the fault of those who were reckless of the consequences.

The President of the Conference, M. Delacroix, announced that a committee consisting of two representatives each of the great Allied Powers and Germany would meet at Geneva in a few weeks, to settle such points connected with the Reparations question as had not been settled at Spa.

INTIMATES ACCEPTANCE

Spa, July 15.—At eleven o'clock this morning Dr. von Simons sent Mr. Lloyd George a personal letter, intimating the Germans' acceptance of the Allied terms with regard to the delivery of coal.

Dr. von Simons further asked Mr. Lloyd George to help by allowing Germany, in cash, the difference between the pit mouth price and the export price of coal, and also by making a generous arrangement with regard to shipping, and giving Germany security against the constant menace of invasion if she gets behind with deliveries.

"NOT CONDITIONS"

Dr. von Simons added: "These are not the conditions, but an expression of hopes."

The letter was sent to the Villa Fraineuse in time to prevent the presentation of the Allied ultimatum.

An hour later a formal German note was delivered, in which the Germans agree to deliver two million tons of coal a month, as required by the Allies, provided that Germany shall have the right of distribution of Upper-Silesian coal or alternatively a guarantee of 1,500,000 tons for the use of Germany.

ASKS FOR FOOD

Germany also asks for the appointment of a mixed commission to go to Essen to inquire into housing, food and clothing conditions, and the grant of an additional advance supply of imported food for the whole population of Germany.

The Allies conferred this morning for two and a quarter hours, discussing the latest German proposals. The situation is regarded as improved, but it is not likely that the German proposals will be accepted in their present form.

The Allies meet again this afternoon. Herr Hue, president of the German Miners' Union, has been summoned to return to Spa.

THE COAL PROPOSALS

Spa, July 16.—The Allied coal proposals provide for advances to Germany on the basis of the amount of coal delivered during the next six months, and the difference between the German market price of coal and the export price f.o.b., at German ports, or the market price of British coal f.o.b. at British ports.

The advances will enjoy priority over other Allied credits.

Great Britain will participate in the loan to the extent of 22 per cent, the other Allies providing the remainder in proportion to the coal received.

MEET AT BRUSSELS

A portion of the Reparations Commission will sit at Brussels to control the production of German coal and see to the carrying out of the reparations program, reporting any breaches of the conditions.

It is estimated that the arrangement will give France 1,600,000 tons of coal a month and Italy 250,000 tons a month, while the remainder will go to Belgium.

One of the German delegates told Reuter's special correspondent that the Germans agreed to the Allied terms in principle, but were asking for an explanation of certain points.

FRANCE QUICK TO ACT WHEN BERLIN INSULTS HER TRICOLOR

Flag On Embassy Hauled Down; Apology And Salutes Follow

MARRED "BASTILE DAY"

Reward Offered For Miscreant; Police Who Winked At Action Suspended

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, July 15.—For the first time since the war France yesterday enjoyed an old fashioned Fourteenth of July.

The day's program included a big military review at Vincennes, free performances at many of the theaters, displays of fireworks and dancing in the streets.

On this occasion America's tribute took the form on the presentation of an American flag to Marshal Foch, which was accepted by Mme. Foch for her husband, who is absent at Spa.

The Germans insulted France by tearing down the Tricolor flying over the Embassy in Berlin. Later, however, the flag was recovered.

The French Ambassador protested to the German Government, which presented its apologies.

FRENCH DEMANDS

Spa, July 16.—It is reported that France has made the following demands in connection with the insult to the French flag at the French Embassy on July 14:

(1) The Chief of Police to be dismissed; (2) a personal apology to be given to the French Embassy by Herr von Haniel, Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, on behalf of the German Foreign Office, and (3) the French flag to be rehoisted at the Embassy in the presence of a guard of Reichswehr standing at the salute.

It is at this ceremony that Herr von Haniel is to tender his apology.

The German Government is said to have yielded on all points.

GERMANS ACCEDE

Berlin, July 16.—Reparation for the hauling down of the French flag at the French Embassy on July 14 was made today in accordance with the French demands.

The Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Herr von Haniel, and the leading police representative called at the Embassy and expressed their regrets.

Subsequently a company of Reichswehr marched past the Embassy and, as the French flag was hoisted, they saluted the leading French officers and members of the Embassy staff on the balcony.

The Reichswehr then marched off singing "Deutschland Ueber Alles," while the crowd cheered vociferously.

PUNISH THE GUILTY

Berlin, July 15.—The police are offering a reward of 10,000 marks for the capture of the person who cut down the Tricolor flying over the French Embassy yesterday.

The policemen who did not attempt to prevent the flag being cut down have been suspended.

VICTORIOUS CHIHLIAN TROOPS ADVANCE ON PEKING; CAPITAL FEELS HOT BREATH OF WAR GOD

The Situation At A Glance

Peking yesterday appointed a peace commission to proceed to Tientsin to parley with the Chihli leaders.

Anfuites have abandoned front along the Kinhan line, and moved headquarters to Peking. More demoralised Anfu troops arriving at Peking from the front.

Trains between Peking and Tientsin not running. Cause of the suspension unknown.

Diplomatic Corps asks military permit to have one train enter capital daily.

Except where Japs are assisting, the Chihli army is gaining everywhere along the three main points of attack, led by Tsao Kun and Wu Pei-fu from the Southwest, Chang Tso-lin from the East and Wang Ting-chen from the North.

Fear of international complications has heretofore prevented Tsao from advancing further along the Peking-Hankow Railway. The battle of Chochow is decisive. Both the Anfu units engaged in the combat, the first division of the Frontier Army and the 15th division, formerly Feng Kuo-chang's troops, were routed.

A shrapnel from the first division guns exploded in the ranks of the 15th, and the latter withdrew by means of three trains to Peking.

Peking, fearing mutiny, closed all its gates when the 15th division marched back. The entire city is in suspense.

Looting and burning by the 15th division at Nanyuan is reported.

The first division, under command of General Chu Tung-fung was disarmed, following its defeat. Chu was obliged to comply with the armistice demand of General Wu Pei-fu, which was unconditional disarmament.

The report of the disarming of Little Hsu's troops at Loyang, Honan, by Wu Pei-fu, is confirmed.

The Fengtien troops in the form of the 28th brigade, have arrived in Tientsin. A hearty welcome was accorded to them by the local organisations. They are no longer neutral in their attitude.

The neutral stand of the Hupeh Tuchun, General Wang Chuan-yuan, was altered when Wu Kwang-hsin, the little brother-in-law of Marshal Tuan attempted to snatch his province by slaying him.

Thirteen Local Societies File Protests Against Jap Interference At Yangtsun

Obata Asked To Leave Contending Forces Alone As Chinese Must Maintain Their Right To Settle Their Own Affairs

The Japanese interference with Chihli troops at Yangtsun, as reported by the various news agencies, has engendered a great deal of indignation among local Chinese organisations. No less than 13 bodies addressed protests to Mr. Obata, the Japanese Minister to Peking, yesterday.

The Chamber of Commerce sent the following message to the envoy from the islands.

"Permit us to call Your Excellency's attention to the Yangtsun incident, wherein Japanese soldiers were reported to have interfered during the battle between Chinese forces.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

"While we deplore internal strife, firmly maintain our rights to settle our own questions without external interference. We voice the public opinion of the Chinese people in protesting against such action."

Twelve others despatched the following message to the Japanese Legation:

"Reports in the Shanghai press indicate that Japanese soldiers at Cangtsun interfered with Chinese forces during a battle. This is clearly contrary to the recent announcement of your government, guaranteeing neutrality.

ARE MUCH DISTURBED

"Our people in this section of China are much disturbed over the above report, and we trust that you will use your greatest efforts to prevent in the future even the suspicion of interference of any kind in this civil conflict."

The associations which sent the second message were the Chinese Cotton Mill-Owners' Association, Foreign Piece Goods Merchants Association, Foreign Sundry Goods Merchants Association, Export Merchants Guild, Metal Merchants Association, Silk Guild, Tea Guild, Coal Merchants Guild, Timber Merchants Guild, Cotton Merchants Association, Kiangsu Educational Association and Chinese Bankers' Association.

MORE RICE COMES TO RELIEVE LOCAL FOOD SHORTAGE

Another consignment of 510,000 catties of Hongkong rice has arrived in Shanghai by the steamer Kwongsang to relieve the local rice shortage.

It is understood that the shippers will sell the cereal at $9 per picul, having purchased it at only $7 per picul. The working price, however, including freight and landing, amounts to about $11.

The loss will be met by a number of local Chinese charity workers who are prepared to face the deficit.

Serious rice riots have broken out in Pinghu, Chekiang, according to reports from the Chinese press.

Five were killed and ten wounded when certain paupers attempted to raid a rice shop

EX-GERMAN SHIPS TO REOPEN ROUTES UNDER U. S. FLAG

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, July 14.—Arrangement to reopen the former Nord-Deutsche Lloyd routes to American shipping were completed at a conference today between Admiral Benson, the chairman of the United States Shipping Board, and officials of the United States Mail Steamship Company.

"PURELY AMERICAN"

Admiral Benson, in the course of an interview, said that the arrangement was "purely American" and would result in estimable benefit to the American merchant marine. The company had given assurances that no German capital was invested in it.

The agreement with the Nord-Deutsche Lloyd provided for the use of docks and harbor facilities on a fixed-price basis only.

Peking, July 20.—(2.00 a.m.)—Marshall Tuan Chi-jui, leader of the Anfu party at Peking and recently talked of as possible Military Dictator and head of a new Government, has resigned all of his offices held under President Hsu Shih-chang.

Peking, July 19.—A peace commission consisting of General Chin Yun-peng, former Premier; General Chang Huai-chi, Chief of the General Staff; General Chiang Kwei-ti, Tartar-general of Jehol; and General Fu Liang-tso, former Tuchun of Hunan, has been appointed to proceed to Tientsin to attempt to arrange peace parleys with Generals Tsao Kun and Wu Pei-fu. The delegates have received safe conduct.

The military headquarters of the Anfu Army, along the Peking-Hankow Railway front, has been moved to Peking, indicating the abandonment of that front.

The trains from Tientsin are not yet running. The conditions of the line are unknown.

The gates of Peking are still closed and food has failed to arrive.

The Diplomatic Corps is asking for military permit to have a food train enter the city daily.

More demoralised Anfu troops are arriving from the front, but no more looting is reported.

BY NATHANIEL PEFFER

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, July 18.—Peking is as tightly sealed against the rest of the world as a medieval city under siege. Only one telegraph line has been re-opened after three days of complete isolation from the outside world.

All the city gates are closed today. Trains are not coming in and all sources of food supplies have been shut off.

The greatest menace is the food shortage. Prices are soaring by leaps and bounds. The main staple foods of the Chinese, the vegetables and the grains, are not arriving and the supplies are getting short.

Foreigners are safe, however, and there is no cause for anxiety. A military train manned by foreign troops is arriving from Tientsin tomorrow to reopen the railway line.

APPEAL TO CONSULS

(Reuter's Service)

Peking, July 19 (4:30 p.m.)—The International Food Relief Committee has resolved to ask the Diplomatic Corps to request the military authorities to allow one train of ten trucks daily to bring grain from Chaochow, Honan.

It is reported that General Wu Pei-fu is considering sending food to Peking. Up to the present it is only the poorest classes that are suffering, though prices are rising rapidly.

The city is quiet. Some of General Chang Kwei-ti's men from Tungchow are guarding the gates, some of which are open to allow the ingress of market gardeners.

Stragglers from the front continue to speak of the acute hardships which they have suffered, and appearances confirm their story.

EYES ON YANGTSUN

Peking, July 19 (3:45 p.m.)—There has been no change in the position on the western front, and the center of interest has been momentarily transferred to Yangtsun.

General Ma Liang is attacking Tehchow. It is reported that a portion of the 27th Mukden Division is proceeding to Tehchow.

The effects of a collision near Yangtsun were cleared away after nine o'clock yesterday evening, but congestion is preventing the resumption of a normal service. No passenger trains left Peking today.

Considering the difficulties of the situation, the military authorities are showing themselves very reasonable in the matter of passenger traffic.

PEKING FEARS LOOTERS

The Chinese believe that Marshal Tuan's cause has failed and fear the general looting of Peking; while reports to the effect that General Wu Pei-fu's agents intend to lead the anti-Tuan faction in destroying the homes of the leading members of the Anfu Party, are helping further to demoralise the populace.

There is a strict censorship on all Chinese telegraphs.

GENERAL WU'S TRAP

Peking, July 19 (6:40 p.m.)—On the night of the 16th, the 15th Division went into the front line near Liuliho; and, at dawn, fiercely attacked General Wu Pei-fu's force, driving them back nearly to Kaopeitien.

General Wu Pei-fu sent a brigade round the left flank of the 15th Division, encircling two companies, which surrendered.

The remainder of the Division retreated; whereupon the 1st Frontier Division, which apparently was not sufficiently close to follow events, opened fire on the 15th Division.

FOUGHT EACH OTHER

A brisk exchange of fire resulted in heavy casualties before the 1st Division realised its mistake and allowed the 15th Division to continue its withdrawal.

Subsequently the 15th Division seized trains and proceeded to Peking, accompanied by stragglers from other units. In the morning there were upwards of 5,000 of Marshal Tuan Chi-jui's troops congregated outside the gates of the city, which were all closed.

PEACE ARMY COMING

Peking, July 18 (9:30 p.m.)—General Chang Kwei-ti's troops, who effectively maintained order in Peking during the anti-Manchu scare of 1911, left Tungchow today for Peking. It is understood that they are coming to the capital as neutrals, to preserve peace.

Numerous trains conveyed wounded soldiers to Peking last night and today.

Refugee soldiers tell of very great hardships during the recent rain.

There has been a shortage of food while fighting has been continuous.

Wu Pei-fu's rapid maneuvring led to confusion in his opponents' ranks.

ORDER IN THE CITY

Refugees are still arriving; all seeking food and rest. Perfect order prevails in the city, though the excitement is undiminished.

Fighting continues on the Western front and gunfire could be heard this afternoon more plainly than hitherto. The fifteenth division has reached Nanyuan. All accounts agree that the fighting has been very severe.

Foreign telegrams state that General Ma Liang has decided to attack Tehchow, where the Chihli men hold the important arsenal.

BRITISH FLEET THERE

A British squadron, consisting of the flagship Hawkins (with the commander-in-chief of the China station, Vice-Admiral Sir Alexander Duff, on board), the light cruisers Carlisle and Cairo, and the sloops Marazion and Bluebell, arrived at Taku at 9:30 this morning.

Peking, July 18 (1:50 p.m.)—The fifteenth division attacked Wu Pei-fu's troops, who retreated to near Kaopeitien (about 50 miles south of Peking on the Pekow line), but threw out a brigade on the right which outflanked the fifteenth, two regiments of which surrendered.

The remainder of the fifteenth hastily retreated, were fired on by the first Frontier Division, losing heavily, and subsequently left the field, seized a train and retreated on Peking.

LOOTING AT NANYUAN

A number of troops of the first Frontier Division also evacuated the field. Altogether about six thousand men have returned. They are at present looting Nanyuan (about 9 miles south of Peking). All the gates of the city are closed.

It is reported that Wu Pei-fu's troops have occupied Hwangtsun (about ten miles south of Peking on the Peking-Tientsin line).

The debacle of Tuan Chi-jui's army is believed to be complete, their defeat being due to Wu Pei-fu's superior strategy. Wu Pei-fu's troops are rapidly advancing. Intense excitement reigns in the capital.

The ex-Imperial family has requested the Diplomatic Corps to investigate the truth of the report of an intended restoration of the Monarchy, and has asked for foreign protection.

Tientsin, July 17 (1:20 p.m.).—When the party of British, American, French and Japanese Military officers who went up the line to Yangtsun yesterday in a special train to investigate the cutting of the railway, reached Peitsang, they were informed by General Tsao Ying, brother of Tuchun Tsao Kun and the local commander, that the Japanese guard at Yangtsun station had compelled him to retreat.

General Tsao Ying stated that he had placed guns on both sides of the bridge at the approach to the station, some of the guns being near the Japanese post.

JAP SHOWS COLORS

Just as the Anfuites attacked the Japanese commandant complained of the presence of the artillery and insisted that the Chihli troops and guns should be removed to a distance of two miles on either side of the railway.

General Tsao remonstrated, but in vain. Compliance with the Japanese commandant's demand involved placing a gap of four miles between the two bodies of Chihli troops on either side of the line.

SAYS JAPANESE FIRED

The Chihli officers are very bitter over the Yangtsun affair; they even allege that the Japanese fired on them.

Both combatants were warned that there must be no interference with traffic between Peking and Tientsin, and the station master at Yangtsun, who is alleged to have been evicted by the Anfuites, was reinstated, the Anfu commander being told that he would be held personally responsible for the official's safety.

Today it is reported that the Chihli forces, reinforced by General Chang Tso-lin's troops, have already recaptured Yangtsun.

CONSULS INTERVENE

The Consular body at Tientsin has made representations to the belligerents with a view to preventing fighting at Tientsin.

The sound of gunfire yesterday evening created no small alarm in the Chinese city, resulting in an exodus of Chinese to the foreign Concessions.

The special correspondent of the Peking and Tientsin Times at Paotingfu wired yesterday that the Anfuites had been driven back thirty li, and that General Wu Pei-fu was recruiting many students.

It is understood that the civil governor of Chihli, Tsao Jui, intends to release unconditionally the students imprisoned at Tientsin, and this is expected to have a considerable moral effect.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

Commenting on the Yangtsun incident, the Peking and Tientsin Times inquires why the Anfuites were permitted to occupy positions on the railway, while the Chihli troops were ordered to withdraw, leaving a gap in their front.

WU'S SUCCESS CONFIRMED

Tientsin, July 18.—Reuter's Peking correspondent sends the following despatch, dated yesterday:

"Wu Pei-fu's success is confirmed. No fighting on the western front has yet been reported today.

"The Anfuite leaders are not allowing attaches or correspondents near the western front.

"Hitherto upwards of 280 severely wounded men have been brought from the western front, and about 30 from Yangtsun.

"The fifteenth division appears to have fought well on Friday, while the first Frontier division was feeble."

LEGATIONS PREPARED

"The Legations are prepared for any eventuality and, in the event of the almost certain defeat of Marshal Tuan Chi-jui's forces, which may cause the rabble to break loose in the capital, firm measures are certain to be adopted.

"There is reason to believe that the Japanese now favor a compromise, though it is not expected that Tuan Chi-jui will agree to immunity for Wu Pei-fu.

"General Chang Tso-lin continues to be the main factor in the situation. Chin Yun-peng and General Wei Hsin-wu left for Mukden on July 15 with attractive proposals to set before Chang Tso-lin, offering him the Vice-Presidency in return for neutrality.

WU'S STRATEGY

The following later message was received by wireless from Peking:

"Following an initial success, in which Wu Pei-fu was driven back by the Anfuites to Kaopeitien, one of Wu's brigades outflanked the attachers in the direction of Mentoukou.

"Attacked on the flank, the Anfuites fell back to Liuliho. It is reported that the commander of the first Frontier division was killed.

"Out of the mass of conflicting reports, it appears evident that Wu Pei-fu is maintaining his advantage south of the capital and has advanced slightly north of Liuliho.

REASSURES CONSULS

In reply to a protest by the Diplomatic Corps, the Ministry of Communications gave an assurance that the Peking-Tientsin line had not been cut and that the service would be resumed at an early moment. Today's trains which departed for Tientsin arrived safely.

Prices of rice and grain are soaring in the city, but all is quiet."

15TH DIVISION QUITS

Tientsin, July 18 (later).—General Tsao Kun's headquarters state that the fifteenth division has been captured, together with a brigade commander and staff, and sent as prisoners to Paotingfu.

It is further stated on the same authority, that the third Frontier division is distintegrated and that its commander has disappeared.

CHANG FOR CHIHLI

Tientsin, July 18.—General Chang Tso-lin is heavily reinforcing the Chihli men. Troop trains from Mukden are hourly passing through Tientsin, en route to the front.

The Chihlites' offensive is developing favorably. Last night the Anfuites were evacuating Yangtsun, though the station was still held by their rear-guard at midnight.

The imprisoned students were unconditionally released on the Civil Governor's orders here yesterday. They were enthusiastically greeted by relatives and friends.

In addition to the five British warships under Vice Admiral Sir Alexander Duff, two Japanese torpedo-boats arrived here yesterday evening.

Railway communication between Peking and Tientsin has been reopened.

Smiles from the Mixed Court

For twelve comfortable, well-fed months Yui Tsing-ts will procrastinate, at Municipal expense, for being a thief of time.

He saw, coveted and possessed himself of a wooden clock.

His wife left him three years ago but Wong Shing-kwe nurtured his affection for her and when he heard that she was aboard a foreign boat at the N.Y.K. wharf he just naturally had to go have a look-see.

He was arrested.

But the court was sympathetic and dismissed a charge of loitering with the admonition:

"A little widow is a dangerous thing."

Where are your Customers?

If you were interested in selling goods to the people of Greenland, you wouldn't place your advertising in a newspaper or magazine that was published in Switzerland and was read only by the people of Switzerland. The same argument applies to China. Your business and your investments are located in China. You are interested primarily in selling your merchandise to the people of China, hence your advertising should be placed in a publication published in China and read by the Chinese people. If you are interested in selling in Japan, Siberia, America, or Timbuctoo, then by all means the advertising should be placed in publications published and read in those places.

Says Anglo-Jap Pact Now Needs Much Remodelling

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 15.—The Manchester Guardian, commenting on the Anglo-Japanese note of July 8 to the League of Nations, signed by Viscount Chinda and Lord Curzon, informing the League that the British and Japanese Governments recognise that the Alliance can only be continued in a form, not inconsistent with the Covenant of the League, declares:

"The Treaty has always been entirely out of harmony with the spirit of the Convenant and it will need complete remodelling in order to make it consistent with the Covenant.

"This will presumably be done by each Power undertaking formally to go to war in support of the other after the League of Nations has definitely pronounced against the aggressor, and to order all the punitive measures contemplated in Article 16 of the Covenant."

"NO CONTEST," SECOND YACHT RACE RESULT

American Yacht Faster, But Not As Strong As "Shamrock IV."

(Reuter's Service)

Sandy Hook, July 15.—The second race for the America's Cup was declared off at 7:30 p.m. today, owing to the failure of the wind. Resolute had a long lead.

Both boats crossed the starting-line, at 1:46 this afternoon. The wind was very light.

Resolute seemed to outdo Shamrock in beating to windward, and the swell troubled the challenger. Both boats approached the first mark of the triangular course with increasing speed.

Resolute rounded the mark at 4:33:42 and Shamrock at 4:51:05, the latter having to make five attempts. When she finally succeeded Resolute was two miles ahead and there seemed to be no hope for Shamrock; but shortly afterwards the wind shifted, completely turning the tables.

Shamrock now gained rapidly, but with the continuation of fluky weather the American boat rounded the second mark at 7:01:06, Shamrock just previously having been half an hour behind.

From this point to the end it was merely a drifting match.

The following additional report of the first international yacht race for the America cup won by the Lipton boat Shamrock IV, was received today.

(Reuter's Service)

Sandy Hook, July 15.—As the Shamrock crossed the line she was greeted with deafening shouts and shrill siren blasts from the packed excursion craft assembled behind the line.

The race is regarded as showing that the Resolute may be the faster boat in the light airs, but that she is unable to stand much strain, particularly if it is squally.

The course presented a very animated appearance. It was lined with a veritable armada of vessels, crowded with sightseers. The weather was a little windy.

"RESOLUTE" AHEAD

The Resolute succeeded in crossing the starting line at noon, one minute before the Shamrock. She led by over half a mile at the end of an hour from the start, and this lead was maintained until the end of the second hour, when ten miles had been covered.

At three o'clock the Resolute parted her throat halyards, supporting her mainsail, shortly after leaving the turn, when she was apparently winning easily.

The captain continued sailing, but soon found that the position was hopeless and withdrew.

The Shamrock passed the Resolute, continued the race and completed the 30-mile course well within the stipulated time limit of 6 hours. The Resolute was towed in.

WANTED NO "FLUKE"

Sir Thomas Lipton, in the course of an interview, said that he regretted exceedingly that the Shamrock had won by a fluke, and that he would have much preferred not to accept the race; but he was convinced that this would not be for the best interests of yachting, and would tend to set the precedent of putting a premium on faulty or slight construction.

The newspapers express the opinion that it was a fair win as the staunchness of the construction of the gear is part of the test.

WU KWAN-HSIN PLANNED DEATH OF GEN. WANG TO SUCCEED HIM

and commenced to flee toward the Foreign Concessions. General Wang issued a statement that these areas would be held immune from invasion or bombardment. By midnight the native city was denuded of its human inhabitants, every light extinguished and troops on guard at every approach.

Looters, General Wang has ordered, are to be shown no mercy whatever.

CONCESSIONS CROWDED

Every building in the Concessions, including the churches, is crowded full of refugees. General Wang has assured the foreign residents that there is no cause for alarm on their parts.

Commissioner Dao Shih-chun eventually defeated the army of General Wu and forced a complete surrender of all arms and equipment.

General Wang Chan-yuan, by this action against Wu Kwang-hsin, has definitely abandoned his attitude of neutrality in the Chihli-Anfu controversy, and come out flat-footed in favor of the Chihli faction. This means, very likely, that the balance of power will remain with Chihli, and that the Anfuite hopes are dashed beyond hope of restoration.

Today the Hankow headquarters of General Wu Kwang-hsin were searched by orders of General Wang and his staff officers were placed under arrest and sent to Wuchang.

American Military Attache Arrives Here From Peking

Col. John Magruder And Roy Anderson Go Through Lines Of Opposing Armies

Conditions in the war-torn country around Peking and southward were explained yesterday by Col. John Magruder, Assistant Military Attache of the American Legation at Peking, who has been making an observation tour and who brought to Shanghai the first "eye witness" account of the massing of the opposing Anfu and Chihli legions which has isolated Peking from the rest of the world. Colonel Magruder with Mr. Roy Anderson traveled through the lines of both armies—possibly the first travelers who have journeyed through the fighting zones. The American officer will go north again today into the disturbed area, intending to return to the capital.

The trip from Peking of Colonel Magruder and Mr. Anderson was made by train and automobile and about a week's time was consumed in coming to Shanghai. The travelers passed over the line from Peking to Tientsin a day or so before Hsu Shu-cheng loosed his forces against Gen. Wu Pei-fu's army and captured Yangtsun a few miles north of Tientsin.

THE ANFU BASE

"We came to the first considerable numbers of Anfu forces after we left Peking at Langfang," Colonel Magruder said. He and his companion quit Peking just at the time the war storm was brewing Sunday afternoon, July 11. He said that the Anfu troops—Marshal Tuan Chi-jui's forces—were thrown along both sides of the railway and, as is known, had been using Langfang as a base.

"They had thrust themselves some considerable distance along the line toward Tientsin and it was only a few miles further on that the troops of the Chihli faction, under Gen. Wu Pei-fu were ranged along the line in force—at Lofa."

GIVES VIEWS

Colonel Magruder said that the number of troops surrounding Peking at a conservative estimate when he left the capital was 80,000 and he added that it was likely the number had largely been increased by this time, particularly if detachments from Manchuria have been thrust into the situation by Chang Tso-lin.

"There was no evidence whatever of anti-foreign sentiment in the controversy," the officer said, and he gave it as his view that foreigners and their interests are in nowise menaced, though, of course, commerce and communications have suffered.

He was unwilling to offer predictions concerning the future outlook, admitting, however, that the situation is full of gravity.

When Colonel Magruder and his companion passed through Yangtsun, a few days before Little Hsu's troops occupied the town many soldiers were in evidence and the Japanese there were showing signs of activity. A number of Japanese officers were on the roof of the station using field glasses.

From Tientsin the two travelers found themselves obliged to proceed by automobile to Paotingfu over Tsao Kun's military roadway as the rail line south to Tehchow was blocked by the operations of General Ma Liang's troops. From this point on large bodies of troops of the Chihli faction, including Fengtien and Honan forces were encountered along the Peking-Hankow rail line to Chengchow and thence over the Lunghai railway to Suchowfu. From that point they came on south to Nanking and on to Shanghai.

FINANCE BILL IS TOPIC OF WARM COMMONS TILT

"Preference Duties," Scored By Member, Upheld By The Majority

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 16.—In the course of a debate in the House of Commons today on the Finance Bill, Captain Wedgwood Benn proposed the repeal of the Imperial preference duties. He said that they were trifling and absurd, and that the policy of Imperial preference led to economic friction, adverse to the peace of the world. Commander Kenworthy supported the motion.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain, replying, said, dealing with the criticism that preference had not lowered prices, that the benefit of preference in tea and colonial wine had undoubtedly gone to the consumer.

The advantage of sugar preference had gone to the producer, but he was content which ever it went to.

UNITES THE EMPIRE

The object of preference he said, was to give a practical example of Imperial unity, and to promote the growing prosperity of the overseas territories, which would result in an increase of their trade with the mother country.

Mr. Chamberlain emphasised that preference to Great Britain in the Dominions had not led to friction. Every leader of every party in every Dominion, he declared, had approved Imperial preference.

Referring to the old assertion that a system of preference would cause war, the Chancellor of the Exchequer pointed out that the absence of such a system had not prevented the war in which Great Britain had been saved by the loyal voluntary assistance of the Dominions and Protectorates, the slightest concession to whom was so obnoxious to Independent Liberals, who would continue to fight for free trade.

MOTION REJECTED

The motion was rejected by 130 votes to 39.

Captain Wedgwood Benn introduced a motion with the object of preventing preference applying to mandated territories.

Mr. Baldwin, Secretary of the Treasury, pointed out that the proposal was premature, as the terms of the mandates were not yet known.

The motion was rejected by 143 votes to 45.

The House confirmed, by 194 votes to 80, the clause of the Finance bill providing for the repeal of land value duties and the cessation of valuation.

CLAUSE CONFIRMED

London, July 15.—The clause in the Finance Bill providing for repeal of land values and cessation of valuation was confirmed by the House of Commons today by 194 votes to 80.

LOOTING IS RIFE

(China Press Correspondence)

Tsingkiangpu, July 12.—The looting of grain stores has spread up the canal.

Last night a large crowd of people, some poor, some not attacked two large boats loaded with wheat and stole the entire cargo. Six other boats were protected by the officials, tardily, as the condition the grain should be sold on the local market.

The magistrate has forbidden the export of any grain for a month, and has also forbidden the Ta Fung mill to buy wheat for a month. He is trying to control the price but the H. C. O. L. and other conditions are hard to control.

The people are much excited and threats are freely made to loot the grain shops as well as the large mill.

The crop just harvested has been a bumper yield, the best for many years, and that the price of grain should soar right now is too much for the people. It should be low, yet it is higher than for the past 12 months.

RISE PRICES UP

Rice, too, has risen 30 percent in the past three weeks. The poor people feel it severely and they are being heard from.

The officials are bestirring themselves somewhat and are now trying to prevent further disorder. The merchants are apprehensive and have addressed very urgent petitions to the authorities.

There are rumors that the soldiers, short on pay for several months, are making threats to loot the town. The banks are doing no business, will cash no checks and all business is at a standstill.

There are no strikes here yet. Labor locally is not yet organized. The building trades have raised their wages and the public has accepted it.

ROBBERS GROW BOLD

To the north the robbers are worse than usual. They are holding up boats on the Grand Canal and robbing up to the gates of the larger towns. They are well armed and have ammunition, which is gotten at a certain port. Rifles are bought and brought in when wanted, so it is reported.

Opium is freely, though secretly, sold here. Anyone that wants it can buy it. It comes from the north, from Haichow, and a well-known port. The price is from $5 to $8.00 an ounce. Two years ago it was $16. The traffic is protected and only those who have an understanding can carry it on.

had previously objected to the provision in the agreement that the Allies shall occupy the Ruhr or some other district of Germany if six million tons of coal have not been delivered by November 15.

MINERS PROTEST

Berlin, July 15.—After a conference with the coal-workers at Bochum, Herr Hue, one of the coal experts at the Spa conference, sent an urgent telegram to Dr. von Simons at Spa, declaring that there was a growing disinclination on the part of the coal-miners to increase the number of extra shifts or even to continue the present number, owing to "the extraordinarily bad food, the high temperature and the reports of an extra measure of compulsion in connection with the Ruhr."

APPEALS TO WORLD

Herr Hue added that the Union of Christian Coal-workers protests against the increase of hours of work, and expresses the hope that coal-workers throughout the world will join in the protest. Herr Hue concluded:

"The German workers are not cut out of such soft wood as to allow themselves to be robbed of their rights by the bayonets of Senegalese negroes, or to be forced to slave in the service of foreign capitalists."

Soochow Notes

(China Press Correspondence)

Soochow, July 15.—The Kiangsu-Chekiang Christian Workers' Conference has been in session at Soochow University for several days and will close on Sunday night.

In spite of the heat and unsettled conditions throughout the country, there is a record attendance, the delegates and speakers rounding out an even 400. The delegates come from about ten missions, and from almost every town and village from the Yantsze on the north to a hundred miles below Ningpo and as far west as Huchow.

The interruption of railway traffic early in the week prevented some of the speakers from getting to the Conference, but substitutes have been provided and the body has held together remarkably well.

Besides prominent lecturers from among the missionaries, Dr. Griffith Thomas of Germantown, Penn., delivered a series of lectures. Dr. Thomas will lecture also at the conferences at Kuling and Peitaho.

A primary teachers' Normal Institute was scheduled to follow this conference and several hundred have enrolled; but, on account of the unsettled situation, the management has decided to call the Institute off for the present.

BECKETT STOPS TOMMY BURNS IN 7TH ROUND

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 16.—In the seventh round of a twenty-round contest for the heavyweight boxing championship of the British Empire, held at the Albert Hall today, Joe Beckett beat Tommy Burns (Canada), the ex-heavyweight champion of the world.

Burns, who is 39 years of age, put up a good fight against the British champion, showing a good deal of his old-time cleverness, his footwork and ducking being particularly smart.

In the sixth round Beckett shook Burns with a straight left to the jaw, and in the seventh round floored him with a right to the stomach.

Burns rose, but was sent down again with a right to the jaw for a count of nine. His seconds then threw in the towel.

GLEE CLUB BOYS LOSE, SCORE 5-0

Collegians Lacking Practice But Stage Great Contest Before Big Crowd

The two remaining games of the Glee Club—Shanghai series will be played on the Race Course diamond next Friday and Sunday afternoons, instead of today and Thursday, as previously announced.

The Blue and Gold team desires more time for practice, in order that they may make things additionally interesting for the local tossers.

Incidentally, the non-players on the college outfit want to be able to "root," without regard to their throats. This opportunity will be accorded them on Sunday, since their local engagement will have been finished.

This California Glee Club bunch brought a lot besides their sweet voices when they came to the Far East.

On Sunday, in the presence of 2,000 or more lovers of baseball assembled at the Race Course diamond, the Blue-and-Gold songsters trotted out a nifty baseball nine, which gave the local bunch a pretty tussle before succumbing by a 5-0 score.

The college lads, despite their lack of practice, uncorked some lightning-fast work on the defensive but had hard work connecting their bats with the pill. This will probably be improved during the week; and next Friday and Sunday should tell a different story.

"Kid" McCoy, who hurled for Berkeley, exhibited a wicked right; besides which he used his noodle every minute. Mering at first and Phennig behind the bat were also feature-players of the Fairbanks-Chaplin-Pickford type.

The local "umps" were a bit hard on the visitors, everything considered, and should be urged to remember that an occasional "edge" given to the U. C. lads, instead of against them, won't harm anybody.

The score, as mentioned, was five to nothing. A glance at the box score will tell how the runs were made.

The California Glee Club came, saw and were defeated (but not conquered); they were in the game all the way, and it was not until the last time at bat for the Shanghai gang that they were able to put the game on ice.

Gill, who pitched seven innings for the home players, started off by walking the first batter; Walsh was the lad's name. He promptly stole second, went to third on an error and was out at the plate, by a squeek, on a fielder's choice.

From that time on the college boys were not, particularly dangerous until the eighth, when a hit and two passes filled the bags, after one man was put away.

GILL YANKED

Skipper Bills thereupon decided that Gill had had enough for the day and Gunner Claire was yanked off third and put into the box to save the day.

Claire came through in great style and fanned the first batter. Tommy Holman then picked Phenuig off third with a snap throw and the tension eased down.

In the last inning Claire sent the Varsity men down in one-two-three style, two via the strike out route and McCoy on a grounder.

These two periods were the only times the visitors were within striking distance of runs, but luck and good work by the Shanghai boys cut off their chance.

Three hits were obtained off Gill, who had an off day. His control was way off, although but little damage was done to his pitching in the way of hits.

McCoy pitched a very good game, considering the fact that the Club has just stepped off the steamer, and have had but little chance to work out. The games next Friday and Sunday should be even better samples of the national game than this one, which was quite a well-contested match. Both teams were in there every minute, fighting for the breaks, and it just happened that the breaks went against the Varsity outfit.

They will be in better shape when next they appear on the diamond, and a closer game can be looked for.

HOME PLAYERS LACK PEP

Shanghai appeared to be off in their hitting, although the fielding was fair. The home players appeared to lack the pep of their opponents. A little more speed in getting on and off the field between innings will help to dispel that idea.

The next week-end games will be played beginning at 3:30 o'clock sharp. Claire will probably heave on Friday, for Shanghai. The Glee Club gunner has not yet been selected, but he will either be Strickfaden or McCoy again.

The two reliables, Pop Guernsey and Doctor Clapp, will be on the points as usual.

It was reported that there was some misunderstanding on the part of the general public with regard to Sunday's game. The club wishes it to be emphasised that only the Members' Stand is reserved for the membership. The other stands are open to the general public which is cordially invited to attend the games.

Sunday's box score follows:

COLLEGIAN NOTES

The U. C. musican-ballitossers rested up yesterday and nursed a bushel of sore muscles. Sunday's game was the first the collegians had played since they left the U. S. last May.

Saxaphonist Strickfaden may supplant Pianist McCoy in the pitcher's box during the second diamond battle. Both twirlers will work out all week, and the one who uncorks the most fooiers by Friday will get the mound.

A heavy workout will be administered the Californians this morning. Coach "Brick" Morse has announced that his cohorts will stay out on the field until they find the nine pairs of batting eyes which were lost somewhere between Berkeley and Shanghai.

The University of California Varsity nine is contemplating a trip to the Orient next summer and will probably be in Shanghai next June. The Varsity tossers are at present touring the Eastern States, where they defeated Harvard 10 to 5 and Yale 3 to 1. They are making a general cleanup of all Atlantic universities.

Clay Pigeon Club

Thirteen competed for the "Hex" Cup on Sunday afternoon, the conditions being 40 birds "leggett" under Club handicap, all scores (including handicap) of 40 and over to tie and a further 20 birds to be fired at.

The result was very interesting as McEuen 43, Beatty 42, Read 41 and Morris 41, had to shoot the extra 20 birds. Read broke them all, which gave him the Cup.

The following were the scores:—

Red	39 plus	2=41
McEuen	34 „	9=43
Beatty	35 „	7=42
Morriss	31 „	10=41
Hexamer	37 „	3=40
Gibson	38 „	1=39
Doremus	34 „	4=38
Nazer	34 „	3=37
Hendrickson	35 „	2=37
Himrod	31 „	6=37
Tuxford	24 „	8=32
Elliot	22 „	3=25
MacDonald	20 „	3=23

The "Delaware" Cup.—The above competition counted towards the second shoot for this Cup, and it looks as if the high scores will be well over the 40 mark. Hexamer having already a 40 and 41 to his credit, McEuen a 43, Beatty a 42, and Read, Morris and Gilson each a 41.

In the "High Handicap" Cup, the following wins have been registered:—

Gilson	2
Morriss	2
McEuen	2
Jackson	1
Beatty	1
Read	1

The "Anonymous" Cup has been presented for next Sunday, the conditions being 40 "Leggett" ordinary and 20 "Leggett" from center stand, the latter being the same as the conditions under which the Shanghai Championship is shot.

REVOLVER COMPETITION

The July revolver competition for the Experts medal and bar will close on Saturday, July 31. The competition calls for 20 shots to be fired at 15-20 and 25 yards. Time limit 5 minutes. This is an excellent opportunity for persons who are leaving for the Interior to learn and practice revolver shooting. Applications for membership to the Club may be made at the Club's headquarters, 2 Route Say Zoong, 3 minutes from the Bubbling Well tram terminus.

Court Declares Croker Competent

(Reuter's Service)

Palm Beach, Fla., July 13.—The Florida Court has annulled the temporary injunction restraining both Mr. Richard Croker, the former leader of Tammany Hall, and his wife from disposing of the former's estate. The Judge ruled that Mr. Croker was mentally competent.

Mr. Croker is well-known in English and Irish racing circles. In 1907 he won both the Derby and the Irish Derby with Orby.

MOTOR DRIVER PUNISHED FOR WRECKING CAR

Chauffeur Sent To Prison For Two Months After Driving Carelessly

Two months imprisonment for a driver and two weeks or a fine of $15 for his companion were the penalties imposed by British Assessor Hutchinson and Magistrate Li yesterday in the Mixed Court when a chauffeur and motor car attendant were called on a charge of having caused a collision. The car in which they were riding collided with another at Bubbling Well and Seymour Roads.

It was discovered that the driver had no permit, in addition to testimony to the affect that he had been grossly negligent.

Members of the foreign community have been aiding the police recently in checking up careless motor drivers and it is hoped, Municipal officials say, that a stop will be put to the negligence on the part of chauffeurs which has of late rendered life unsafe on the principal thoroughfares of the Settlement.

Belgium Honors American Minister

(Reuter's Service)

Brussels, July 16.—The Presidents of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies today visited the United States Embassy and handed to Mr. Brand Whitlock, the Ambassador, a presentation bust from Parliament as a token of gratitude.

The President of the Senate, in the course of his speech, described the United States Ambassador as "the great friend of Belgium."

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.

It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in civilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

"Far Eastern Republic" Declines To Negotiate Until Japanese Reform

Official Answer To General Oi's Proposal Hints At Nipponese Chicanery In Siberia And Demands Complete Divorce From Semenoff By Islanders

(Delta News Agency)

Verdne-Udinsk, July 8.—The following is the official note issued by the Verdne-Udinsk Government to General Oi, commander-in-chief of the Japanese Expeditionary forces in the Far East:

"The Government of the Far Eastern Republic regards the proposal of the Japanese Command to open peace negotiations simultaneously on all the fronts as a definite acknowledgment by the Japanese command of the viewpoint expressed by the Minister of Foreign Affairs in his reply to the note of the Japanese Command of June 22.

OBSTACLES IN PATH

"Notwithstanding the explicit and thorough character of the Japanese proposal urging the necessity of conducting negotiations, the Minister of Foreign Affairs declares that certain obstacles beyond his power stand in the way of these negotiations.

"The murder of the representatives of the local district authority, Utkin and Grajensky, committed in a car occupied by representatives of the Japanese Command, may serve as an example. They fell victims to an open vengeance effected by a white officer, who committed that crime with an unprecedental impudence, being confident that his misdeed would go unpunished.

DEMANDS GUARANTEES

"The Government of the Far Eastern Republic, which is sincerely striving for the restoration of peace in the Far East, insists that the Japanese Command give real guarantees of safety of the members of our delegation.

"The Government of the Far East Republic does not doubt that, if the Japanese Government is sincerely desiring to facilitate the restoration of a durable situation in the Russian Far East, without making it an object of occupation, it will agree to the proposition made above.

AS TO SEMENOFF

"Representing the only central authority in the territory of Transbaikalia and the Amur, Saghalin, Kamchatka and Maritime provinces, the Government of the Far Eastern Republic, elected by the free will of the people, considers it as necessary to make its position clear by declaring to you that, in no one of the official notes addressed by the Japanese Command to the government of The Far Eastern Republic, did the Japanese Government recognise Ataman Semenoff as a representive of a government.

"Since this is the case, the question of establishing peace and order in the territory of the Far Eastern Republic cannot be decided positively, because of our recognition of Semenoff's gang as a body representing only an independent local authority.

FOUGHT "TERRORS"

"The government of the Far Eastern Republic accentuates the fact that its armed forces have always been engaged in combating the armed gangs of Semenoff, which have been terrorising the peaceful population and foreigners who have settled in our territory.

"The government of the Far East Republic considers as erroneous the conclusion made by the Japanese Command, that the troops of our government, when fighting the troops of Semenoff and other reactionaries, were fighting the Japanese troops stationed in the zone of military operations.

ACCUSES JAPANESE

"To our regret we have learned that, in the localities where an armistice was arrived at between the Russian and Japanese commands in the northeast section of the Transbaikal front, for instance—such a state of affairs was usually being utilised by the local Japanese Command for the object of concentrating their troops along new lines, thus rendering moral support to our enemy, who makes use of the existing situation for the purpose of carrying on military operations against our troops, who remain loyal to the provisions of the armistice.

SUGGESTS REMEDY

"The Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Far Eastern Republic expresses his confidence that the Japanese Command-in-chief will, in consideration of its true intentions, issue orders to the local military authorities, instructing them that the principle as expressed in the Japanese note of June 28 be really carried out.

"Being the only responsible central government of the peoples of the Far East, the Government of the Far East Republic intends shortly to summon a conference of representatives of the local Government, together with representatives of the Japanese Government, to be held in the city of Verdhne-Udinsk."

AIDING FAMINE IS CHARGE MADE AGAINST DEALER

Shanghai Merchant's Bail $50,000 On Charge Of Smuggling Rice

Charges that the high price of rice which has caused innumerable strikes and general unrest throughout China has been due to smuggling of the Far East's principal food product into Japan were supported yesterday when a prominent native merchant was arrested and accused of having surreptiously consigned 8,000 piculs of the grain to ports in Nippon. He was held in $50,000 bail for hearing.

The case is based on a charge of misrepresentation to the Chinese Maritime Customs. The complainant alleges that his fellow merchant, defendant in the case, induced him to certify that the rice was to be shipped to Tientsin. Instead, he charges, it was smuggled out of the country and sent to Japan.

British Assessor Hutchinson and Magistrate Li heard the complaint and granted a remand for a week, the principal witness for the prosecution being unable to appear for that length of time because of his absence from the Settlement.

Being unable to raise the amount of security demanded by the court the accused merchant was remanded in custody pending his hearing.

WHEN BABY'S TEETH ARE COMING THROUGH

Baby's Own Tablets Save Pain and Tears.

Teething time not only is a trying period to baby but also means much worry to mothers.

The little one's gums become swollen and tender; he is cross; does not sleep well; is troubled with constipation, colic or diarrhoea and sometimes even convulsions seize him.

During this period nothing can equal the use of Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy. They regulate the bowels and stomach, and make the teething so easy that the mother scarcely realises baby is getting his teeth.

"My experience has been that Baby's Own Tablets allay the fever caused by teething and give baby healthy sleep. My baby has always been healthy except for the fever and restlessness accompanying teething and an occasional cold, but the Tablets have proved so beneficial in these cases that I would not be without them," writes Mrs. R. S. Long, of Peachland, British Colombia.

These Tablets are equally healthful and harmless to the youngest infant and the child of eight years or more, curing constipation, indigestion, colic, diarrhoea, simple fever and worms.

They are to be had from chemists, also post free at 60 cents the vial from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

RUSS WORKERS ACCEPT MONEY FROM THE JAPS

Drunkenness, Consequently, Increases In Siberia; Cabinet Meets

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Vladivostok, July 17.—It is reported from Nikolsk that the Russian railwaymen, who at first refused presents from the Japanese, are now gladly accepting provisions. The Japanese Military Command is paying the men in Yen for extra work done. The Administration states that this is resulting in a considerable increase in drunkenness.

The new members of the Coalition Cabinet have taken over their departments.

A memorial service was held in the Russian Cathedral here today, in commemoration of the untimely end of the Tsar, the Imperial family and their servants.

COALITION REPORTS

(Russia News Agency)

Vladivostok, July 12.—A meeting of members of the Stock Exchange Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and of the Union of Private Banks, was held here, at which a number of members of the Temporary Parliament made reports on the reorganisation of the Government on the principles of coalition.

The resolution adopted by the conference was as follows:

1.—To approve the decision of the democratic and trade-industrial factions to enter the coalition Government.

2.—To vote full confidence in the candidates for ministerial posts in the coalition Government.

3.—To call upon the trade and industrial classes, as well as upon the democratic faction, to render every possible support to the new Government in the Far East.

CONFERENCE CALLED

A conference of representatives of the export and import companies, of the Union of Stevedores, of the Federation of Ship-Owners, and of a number of other organisations interested in the development of trade in the Far East, is to be held shortly.

Reports will be made on the agreement which was arrived at in Kharbin between the Administration of the Ussuri Railway, on the one hand, and the Administration of the Chinese Eastern Railway and a number of foreign export firms on the other, with regard to the exportation of goods from Manchuria to foreign markets, via Vladivostok.

The conference, it is expected, will lay great stress upon the importance of Vladivostok becoming a big commercial port in the Far East, in preference to the Japanese port of Dairen.

DUTCH SAILORS LOST IN TYPHOON

Four Dutch sailors and a Chinese from the steamer Friesland lost their lives in the recent typhoon, according to word brought to Shanghai yesterday by the Friesland which weathered the storm after a terrific experience in which a large proportion of the crew was disabled. The four and the Chinese were aboard a tug and dredger that the Friesland was towing en route from Chefoo to Shanghai and were swept away when the towing hawsers from the steamer parted and the tug and dredger went adrift in the storm.

The Friesland with her tows encountered the worst of the blow when only three-quarters of a mile off the rocky Shantung Coast. It is thought that the men on the tug and dredger were dashed on the rocks and it is not believed that any of them could have survived. The Friesland is out of Rotterdam of the B. W. Line represented here by Dodwell and Company.

Girl Employes Of Penn Railroad Join 'Outlaw' Strike

A group of pretty girls, employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who have joined the "outlaw" strikers at Hoboken, N. J. Hundreds of the strikers refused to return to work at Hoboken, and their refusal was followed shortly by the walk-out of the girl employes. The photograph was made as the girls assembled for a meeting.

SOVIET-BRITISH PACT PLANNED

Moscow "Red" Gives News Of Peace Proposals To The Press

(By Russia News Agency)

Moscow, July 10.—The Commissariat of Foreign Affairs mentions, in the press, the text of the British note presented to the Soviet Government as a first step toward peace negotiations.

The British Government renounces every hostile action, as well as direct or indirect official propaganda, against Soviet Russia; and demands of the Soviet Government the same engagement;

British subjects in Russia and Russian subjects in Great Britain are to be allowed to return to their respective countries;

WOULD ALLOW TIME

The British Government demands of the Soviet Government the recognition of the obligation to pay damages suffered by British citizens who sold goods to Russia or who rendered services to her. Great Britain does not, however, demand an immediate payment of these debts;

The British Government accepts the principle of reciprocity concerning commercial relations, and agrees upon the nomination of an official representative of the Soviet Government.

THE SOVIET REPLY

The Soviet Government has replied to Great Britain that it accepts the principles set forth by the British Government as a basis for further negotiations, which should begin outright between Russia and Great Britain.

The Soviet Government recognises that the conditions set forth by the British Government are to be regarded as forerunners of an armistice between the two countries, and expresses the hope that this note will prepare ground for a definite peace.

Soviet Russia desires this peace; which, up to the present time, has been retarded owing to the lack of this desire on the part of the British Government.

DESIRES PEACE

The question of negotiations with Russia was recently discussed, it has been learned here, at a meeting of the French Chamber of deputies.

Speaking of the negotiations with M. Krassin, M. Lafont said:

"We have now given up the policy of resorting to force against Russia. The day will soon come when peace will have to be concluded with Russia, for the present equivocal situation can no last any longer. If this is a question of the next day, what then shall we do today?"

FRANCE RELUCTANT

Replying to M. Lafont, M. Millerand declared that France would remain true to her policy of the renewal of commercial relations with Russia.

"We shall not be able to enter into political relations with Russia so long as the latter does not recognise all the international obligations entered upon by the former Russian Government," said Mr. Millerand.

Post Office Work Calls White Back To Post In States

Mr. L. A. White, former American postal agent at Vladivostok, who has been in Shanghai aiding Postmaster Everett since May 3, is to depart for Washington, D. C., on next Sunday. He has been called to the American national capital to take an important position in the foreign mails department. Because of his two years experience in the Far East, Mr. White is particularly fitted for his new position. He has won a great many friends in Shanghai and will be missed by the foreign community.

SHIP-BUILDING OF WORLD LESS; BRITAIN'S MORE

Decrease In Quarter Ascribed To Conditions Existing In America

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 16.—Lloyd's merchant shipping statistics show that 3,577,153 tons were being built in the United Kingdom at the end of June, an increase of 184,000 tons, as compared with the tonnage being built at the end of March and 1,054,000 tons, as compared with June last year.

The ships begun during the quarter include many large vessels, of which 223 ships are of 6,000 tons and upwards. Vessels of 10,000 tons and upwards number 63.

WORLD DECREASE

The total merchant shipping being built abroad amounts to 4,143,751 tons, a decrease of 405,000 tons, due to the large decrease of building tonnage in the United States. The figures for the Dominions show an increase of 36,000 tons.

The world's total merchant shipping in course of construction amounts to 7,720,904 tons, a decrease of 221,000 tons as compared with the tonnage being built at the end of the March quarter.

Bolivian Revolt Report Confirmed

(Reuter's Service)

Santiago de Chile, July 14.—The private news received yesterday, stating that a revolution had broken out in Bolivia and that the Government had been overthrown, has been confirmed.

The revolutionary leader, Senor Saavedra, has assumed the power.

The ex-President and the members of the late Government have fled to the American Legation.

PRESIDENT BANISHED

Santiago de Chile, July 15.—According to a telegram from La Paz, the new Government of Bolivia has banished President Gutierrez and the six leaders of the late Government.

The Provisional Government has appointed Senor Jose Carrasco to be Foreign Minister.

Mr. C. F. Hsu Guest Of Cotton Magnate

Mr. H. Y. Moh, local cotton magnate, was the host at a dinner given at his new home on Lay Road last night in honor of Mr. C. F. Hsu, Special Commissioner of Foreign Affairs at Shanghai. Thirty other guests attended.

Among those present were Dr. C. T. Wang, China's peace envoy at Versailles; Mr. David Z. T. Yui, head of the lecture department of the Y. M. C. A., Mr. Yung Chung-ching, flour magnate; Mr. Liu Pah-shun, cotton mill owner; Mr. C. P. Yin, managing-director of the Shanghai-Nanking Railway; Mr. Pei Zung-sung, noted dye merchant; and Mr. K. S. Li of the China Express Company.

AN ULTIMATUM

"I want a Tibetan Fox Skin and that's all there is to it. Why Lilly has a Tibetan Fox Skin and you should see the difference between it and the other fox skins. If you don't go to the Chinese Post Office and buy a money order for $25 and mail it at once to Mr. Elly Widler, Ta Tsing-Lu, Szechwan Province, I shall never speak to you again. Now here's a kiss and be a good boy and don't forget to write to Widler for that fox skin."

There is no other skin like a Tibetan Fox Skin.

Lih Teh Oil Mill

The annual general meeting of the Lih Teh Oil Mill was held at the offices of Messrs. Burkill and Sons yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. Mr. A. W. Burkill presided as chairman.

After the chairman's speech was made and no questions were asked the resolutions were adopted. The chairman said:

"The Report and Accounts having been in your hands for some time, I will follow the usual course and take them as read. The result of the year's working, considering the difficulties that have had to be contended with, can be considered as satisfactory. We started the year under review with an excellent demand for oils from the United States, and good prices were realised. When this demand fell off we were fortunate in finding an outlet for our oils on the Continent, and as the demand for cake for shipment to Japan during the Autumn and early Spring was very good, the working of the mill for the first nine months of the financial year was extremely satisfactory.

"Unfortunately early in this year the markets changed and the demand for oils and cakes fell off, and we have had a very depressed market in these commodities up to date, and I regret to say that there are no signs of improvement. The mill has been working entirely on Cotton Seed during the past year, but I am sorry to say that the quality of the seeds has not been as good as for the year ending May 31, 1919.

SEED SUPPLY SHORT

"The supply of seeds during November and December was not very plentiful as apparently the Chinese farmers were not ginning their cotton, but since then there has been no difficulty in buying all that wanted to keep the Mill running to its fullest capacity. Turning to the accounts there is not much for me to call attention to, stocks are fairly heavy, but I must point out to you that in a business like ours we always must have stocks to meet demand. Our stock has been taken at very conservative figures, but in view of the state of the consuming markets, your Directors have decided to open a Special Reserve Account with Tls. 50,000 to meet any loss there might be on outstanding shipments, or on our stocks when they are realised.

An interim dividend of 5 percent was paid in December last, and we, now propose to pay a final one of 10 percent making 15 percent for the year. Owing to the transfer of Tls. 50,000 to Special Reserve Fund, we do not propose transferring anything to the Reserve Fund which stands today at Tls. 100,000 but we are placing Tls. 25,000 to Depreciation Account bringing this up to Tls. 75,000.

WRITES OFF INSURANCE

"We also propose to write Tls. 4,997.40 off the Fire Service Installation bringing this down to the nominal sum of Tls. 100, and pay a bonus of Tls. 2,000 to staff as a mark of appreciation for the good work they have done during the past year."

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED

The following resolutions were adopted:

"That the report and statement of accounts as presented be accepted."—Proposed by the Chairman, seconded by Mr. L. Straetmans.

"That the balance at the credit of Profit and Loss Account be appropriated as follows:

	Tls.
Pay a final dividend of 10 percent (making 15 percent for the year)	26,000.00
Transfer to Special Reserve	50,000.00
Transfer to Depreciation Account bringing it up to Tls. 75,000	25,000.00
Write off Fire Service Installation	4,997.40
Pay Bonus to staff	2,000.00
Carry forward	26,239.17
Tls.	134,236.57

Proposed by the Chairman, seconded by Mr. Straetmans.

"That the appointments of Mr. A. W. Burkill and Mr. L. Straetmans as Directors of the company be confirmed."—Proposed by Mr. Liu Chang-yin, seconded by Mr. F. J. Burrett.

"That Mr. E. E. Clark be re-elected a Director of the company."—Proposed by Mr. Burrett, seconded by Mr. Liu Chang-yin.

"That Messrs. G. H. and N. Thomson be reappointed auditors to the company."—Proposed by Mr. J. V. C. Davies, seconded by Mr. W. Ogden.

TROTSKY PROTESTS

Meanwhile it is reported from Moscow that, at a public meeting held to discuss the British proposals, Chicherin, the Commissary for Foreign Affairs, favored immediate peace negotiations with Poland; but that Trotsky protested against such a policy in the most violent terms and obtained almost unanimous applause on declaring that peace could only be signed after a triumphal entry of the "Reds" into Warsaw.

POLAND DECLINES

London, July 15.—Poland declares that she cannot recognise the result of the plebiscite in East Prussia, in which the polling was 50 to 1 against the Poles and for the Germans. The Poles allege that the plebiscite was held at a time unfavorable to Poland and that the Germans terrorised the voters, who voted publicly.

LITHUANIA SUCCUMBS

London, July 15.—The Peace Treaty between Soviet Russia and Lithuania was signed on July 12. The Poles (Russians?) recognised the Lithuanian claims to Vilna, Grodno and the northern part of the Suwalki province.

GLEE CLUB GIVES OPENING PROGRAM

Songsters From Golden State Open Engagement And Score Triumph

There's no use attempting to deny the facts—these University of California Glee Club fellers have certainly annexed Shanghai's municipal number!

Despite the sultriness which had us all growling on Sunday and yesterday, two big audiences turned out to listen to the melodies, jazz and good-natured nonsense of this cheery crew of collegians, only recently returned from a series of triumphs in Manila and Hongkong.

And how the lads can warble! Their ensemble singing especially when directed by good old "Brick" Morse, takes one back to the halycon days of "Robin Hood" and "Pinafore," before the training of men's choruses gave way to the centralisation of attention on feminine underpinning.

Some of the soloists who were booked to perform on Sunday evening suffered contractions of the throat caused by venting their opinion of the umpires in the afternoon ball game—but this could not be said of Cletus Howell, who sang "Rose of My Heart" and an encore very pleasingly.

The quartet also "got away big," as did Larry Blochman with his imitation of Hermann Cagliostro, and Sumner Mering with his Al Jolson moans.

But, after all, the ensembles are the thing—and of these none reaches the heart of grad and stranger alike so quickly or completely as Hal Bingham's "All Hail, Blue and Gold!"

Both the piece and its rendition are classics!

Tonight there is to be, according to the management, a complete change of program—but, for the sake of those who have not yet heard it, I sincerely hope they don't drop "All Hail"—and that "Brick's" throat permits him to sing "Genevieve!"

Hongkong Market

Messrs. Moxon and Taylor write as follows in their report dated July 9:

Our market continues dull and lifeless due to the continued tightness of money, also to heavy imports of Shanghai Cotton stocks, which were imported mostly at Tls. 70 per hundred Mexican dollars exchange against a rate already ruling of 71¾, and this loss coupled with a stagnant market in Shanghai, and a drop of about 30 percent on the purchase price means that a rise of about 30 to 35 percent will have to take place before Hongkong can liquidate.

London continues quiet but prices have undergone a slight improvement. Hongkong Banks and Shells, in which local investors are interested for the most part, having advanced.

Below we give the chief alterations since last week:

Hongkong Banks at $665 and Unions at $195 could both be placed at quotations, but owing to the steadiness of exchange the volumne of business has been on a very small scale.

Docks.—Are on offer at $149¾ with buyers offering $146.

Shanghai Docks.—Have advanced as far as Tls. 136 but at the close are quieter with business done at Tls. 134.

China Sugars.—Have sellers at $228 for cash with no business reported.

Indo Chinas.—Have sellers locally at $130, the London rate being £43.

Exchange.—The demand selling rate on London is 3s. 8¼d. and the T.T. selling rate on Shanghai is 71¾.

WEATHER

The barometer is falling between the Philippines and the Marianas. The Southern depression will cause rough weather around Hongkong. Normal monsoon to the North of the Saddles. Fine and hot weather.

The War In China

ON yesterday's news the Chihli faction undoubtedly has, temporarily or otherwise, gained the upper hand. Wu Pei-fu who seems to be an unusually able Chinese General, has capped his recent successful performances, by luring a large part of Field Marshal Tuan's army into a trap, forcing several regiments to surrender and the others to flee.

Chang Tso-lin seems definitely to have joined hands with the Chihli group, for his troops are reported as pouring through Tientsin on their way to aid Tsao Kun. In the Yangtsze Valley, Gen. Li Shun, Tuchun of this province, with an army of nearly 40,000 well equipped troops, holds Gen. Lu, the Anfu Tuchun of Chekiang in check, while in the Hankow district Gen. Wang appears to have scotched the Anfu chieftain in a most sensational way.

The story of this coup makes good reading. The Anfu man evidently had planned one of the old time banquets of assassination.

The Yangtsze valley now seems to be wholly in the hands of Tuan's enemies, although it is not likely that they will for the present attempt to take active part in the fighting up north. Another event in favor of the Chihli group is the absence from his base of Tuchun Ni Shih-chung of Anhwei. He is at Tientsin with little hope of being able to get back to his troops.

But the outcome is by no means certain. What are the Japanese going to do? Are they prepared to desert their friend Tuan? It may seem somewhat offensive for us to ask this question in view of the official statements issued from Tokio and from the local Japanese Consulate. These official statements gave categorical assurance of Japan's determination to maintain an attitude of neutrality and non-interference in the present warfare in China. Yet on top of these statements we have the following despatch from Reuter's:

Tientsin, July 17, 1:20 p.m.

When the party of British, American, French and Japanese military officers, who went up the line to Yangtsun yesterday in a special train to investigate the cutting of the railway, reached Peitsang, they were informed by General Tsao Ying, brother of Tuchun Tsao Kun, and the local commander, that the Japanese guard at Yangtsun station had compelled him to retreat. General Tsao Ying stated that he had placed guns on both sides of the bridge at the approach to the station, some of the guns being near the Japanese post. Just as the Anfuites attacked, the Japanese commandant complained of the presence of the artillery and insisted that the Chihli troops and guns should be removed to a distance of two miles on either side of the railway. General Tsao remonstrated but in vain. Compliance with the Japanese commandant's demand involved placing a gap of four miles between the two bodies of Chihli troops on either side of the line.

The Chihli officers are very bitter over the Yangtsun affair: they even allege that the Japanese fired on them.

Keep your eye on the Japanese. They were not merely trying to keep the line to Peking open, for after cutting the Chihli troops into two armies four miles apart, they let the Anfuites pour into the gap. Besides this matter is not in the hands of the Japanese. It is an international program and as such is being handled by an commission. And in this connection it is to be remembered that Tuan still holds the capital tightly in his grip. So long as he does this the possibilities of a deal with the Japanese are not remote.

LINES FROM LETTERS

Dear Mutt: I arrived in Shanghai and was told by the local folk that the weather was fairly cool but as Summer Mering says "If this is cool weather then the last hot spell has had a prodigious hang over." One of the first people I met at the Astor was Mrs. Jiggs. She is doing her best to get into society and has already purchased a lap dog which she feeds on champagne, carries about in a motor, and signs chits for. She is also taking lessons in Jazzing. Jiggs created quite an impression when taken to the Club. Ladies are not admitted here and Jiggs is trying to get rooms. But more later. Yours,

SALISBURY

Salisbury is a quaint old cathedral town in Wiltshire which has a graceful spire. The architecture is a fine example of the Norman.

There is yet another Salisbury. He is as quaint as the city, has arrived when we are all wilting, has brought with him a pack of other Quaints who will appear with their graceful show at the Lyceum Theater whose architecture is not Norman, tomorrow night. Salisbury aspires to please the local playgoer as much as he did London audiences.

'Produce More'—What For?

(From the Bulletin of the National City Bank)

Under the above heading one of the radical publications which is doing what it can to discourage and lower production in a time when the world's needs are greater than ever before, produces an article by James H. Maurer, President of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, which on account of his position in the labor world may well receive attention. The article is given verbatim below.

BY JAMES H. MAURER

"Speed up; work like blazes; produce more! The world needs our goods—produce, PRODUCE, PRODUCE!

"Manufacturers, big and little and politicians from the President down to the ward heeler, are dinning into the ears of the workers the "necessity" for greater production. They tell us workers that the trouble is that we aren't producing enough, that the world needs "our" goods, and that to solve the problem of greater production we must speed up. Let us examine the facts.

"For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, the total excess of exports over imports of all commodities was $13,351,906,082. This means that the workers of the United States supported themselves, supported the unemployed within their ranks, supported the entire military forces within the confines of the country, supported the vast body of useless political functionaries and investigation committees, supported the capitalist class and all their lackeys, and on top of all this produced enough food, clothing, shelter, fuel and other commodities to export nearly thirteen and one-half billions worth more in a single year than was imported.

"You who are the workers sent out of the country 178,583,000 bushels of wheat during that year. Did any of you have too much bread? Did any of you have even enough bread?

"You also sent out 27,450,000 bushels of rye, and 24,190,000 barrels of wheat flour and 1,488,000 barrels of rye flour. You sent away five times as much wheat and twice as much rye as in 1918. And between 1914 and 1919 you increased the amount of steam tonnage of the United States by more than 382 percent.

"With a sudden burst of generosity you sent away 1,115,865,000 pounds of sugar last year and 136,230,000 pounds of glucose. Having become used to going without bacon you exported 1,239,540,000 pounds of it to other countries. Not having much bread you sent away 33,740,000 pounds of butter and over eighteen and a half million pounds of oleomargarine. The weight of condensed milk you were not able to buy back with your wages amounted to 728,741,000 pounds.

"Just for good luck we offer a few more authentic figures which you might clip out and paste in your shoddy hat for future reference.

"With but six percent of the population of the world and only seven percent of the land, the United States—that means US—produces:

Eighty-five percent of the world's supply of automobiles; seventy-five percent of the world's supply of corn; sixty-six percent of the world's supply of oil; sixty percent of the world's supply of copper; sixty percent of the world's supply of aluminum; sixty percent of the world's supply of cotton; fifty percent of the world's supply of zinc; forty-two percent of the world's supply of coal; forty percent of the world's supply of lead; forty percent of the world's supply of silver; forty percent of the world's supply of steel; twenty-five percent of the world's supply of wheat; twenty percent of the world's supply of gold, and refines; eighty percent of the copper, and operates forty percent of the world's railroads.

"Increase production? Produce more commodities? What for? Aren't the workers now producing billions of dollars worth more than their wages will buy back—more than they are permitted to consume? Is increased production the solution for the problems confronting the workers?

"The figures you have just read say "No!"

"The problem for the worker is, not increased production, but increased consumption. Not how to produce more, but how to consume more."

The outstanding statement of this article is that during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1919, the exports of commodities from this country exceeded imports by the sum of $13,357,906,082. Upon these figures Mr. Maurer builds his theory that the workers are producing vastly more than is distributed to them, and that therefore they have nothing to gain by producing more.

These figures are grossly erroneous; in fact they exceed the total of both exports and imports for the fiscal year named. The official figures of our foreign trade for that year are, exports $7,225,084,257, imports $3,095,876,728, trade balance $4,129,207,675. So Mr. Maurer's foundation statement is only 30 percent true.

There are no census figures for the total production of commodities in the United States in that year, but reckoning from previous figures and allowing for the existing prices, it probably amounted to $70,000,000,000, of which the excess of exports over imports would be about 6 percent.

The trade balance of last year was an abnormal one, due to the prostration of European industries. The people of Europe were under the necessity of importing heavily and at high prices. The larger part of our exports were farm products, food stuffs and necessaries, without which the sufferings and loss of life of the population of Europe would have been far greater than they were. Thanks to the farmers, not many of whom are under the influence of the doctrines set forth above, the country produced sufficient to allow of these agricultural exports and to save Europe from starvation. Has America done too much in the face of a world calamity, and does Mr. Maurer think the members of his Federation would have been better off, or as well off, if in the face of this emergency the farmers had suddenly determined to restrict their labors to eight hours per day?

The number of wage-earners in these trades is 1,499,315 in Britain and 1,853,579 in America, or, roughly, as 4: 5. Averaging all the trades, analysis of the statistics shows: The total production is as 1: 2.64; the horse-power employed is as 1: 3; the value of the output per wage-earner is as 1: 2.1.

FIGURES CORRECT

The figures which are given by Mr. Maurer for the percentages of the important commodities produced in the United States are probably about correct. They make a showing for the enterprise and efficiency of the people of this country of which we may be proud. This is what the industrial system of United States has accomplished. The productive power of the people of this country is greater than that of the people of any other country, mainly because industry in this country works by superior methods and with superior mechanical equipment, and under greater incentive to individual exertion. The investment of capital is larger in the industries of this country, and the share of the work done by machinery is larger than in other countries.

The country nearest to the United States in this share of the work done by machinery is larger, England was far behind.

In 1913 there were published in The London Times and other English periodicals tables compiled from the British Census of Production (1907) and the American census of 1909, showing the total annual production, the number of wage-earners, the horse-power employed, and the annual value per wage-earner in 26 leading manufactures. Seventeen of these were recently reproduced in an article in the London Times, and are representative. They are given below. Values are converted at $5 to the pound sterling.

The superiority of the United States in power equipment means a greater capital investment in the industries, and this accounts for the greater volume of product. It has resulted in a more abundant supply of all the comforts of life, higher wages and a larger and more widespread distribution and consumption than exists in any other country. These results are all related to each other, so that as production increases they all increase in corresponding degree. If all the forces that are working to embarrass and restrict production in this country were turned over to assist it, it is probably not too much to say that the results obtained might compare with present results as favorably as results in the United States have compared with results in England.

IMPROVEMENTS IN INDUSTRY

Some months ago we quoted from another English writer figures taken from the same comparative statement of British and American industry, showing that over a term of years the average production of bituminous coal for each miner in the United States was 550 tons and in England 270 tons, which is the more interesting in view of recent revelations that the miners in the United States are not employed more than about two-thirds of the time. It was said that the superior output in the case of coal was due to the use of coal cutting machinery in the United States, and in view of Mr. Maurer's contention that the services of employers or capitalists are superfluous, it may be said that the introduction of coal cutting machinery even in this country has been commonly opposed by the labor organisations. Indeed it must be taken into account that although there are many creditable exceptions among the labor leaders, the attitude of the organisations usually has been antagonistic to innovations and improvements which have the immediate effect of displacing labor. This attitude may be explained and excused even while it is condemned; employers have not always been properly considerate of the workers in introducing new methods but, after all, society is interested in progress in industry, and organised labor has often opposed changes which have proved enormously beneficial to the working people themselves.

It will be instructive to look over the above showing of this country's share in the world's industries, and consider the uses of the products named, and how wage-earners, farmers and the great body of the people generally would be affected by increasing or diminishing their production.

The list heads with automobiles, which come nearer to being appurtenances of the rich than anything else on it, but as 60 percent of all the cars made are Fords and probably 85 percent are of the cheaper makes, it can hardly be said that the rich absorb a very excessive share even of automobiles.

Corn, of which we produce 75 percent of the world's supply, is a common source of sustenance for the whole population; oil, as a source of light, fuel and by-products for the industries, is of common service, and so is copper, zinc and coal, the latter being the chief source of power for all the industries; steel is devoted to the industries; cotton is the clothing material of the millions. Who will be most benefited by greater abundance of all these products, the rich or the poor? Who gets the bulk of these products, or the service from them now, and who will derive the benefits of increased production?

It is remarkable that the United States should have 40 percent of the railroad mileage of the world, but can anyone argue that it has more railroad service than it needs, or that the rich enjoy most of the benefits of railroad service? Industry is embarrassed in all parts of the country now, because of the inadequacy of railroad service, partly resulting from discontent stimulated by such reasoning as is set forth in the article quoted above, and partly because there is a lack of available capital to provide needed equipment and make needed improvements.

The quoted article is typical of the agitation which is deranging industry, curtailing production, raising the cost of living and obstructing the world's recovery from the losses of the war. The author of it plainly has no conception of the fundamental reciprocity which exists throughout modern industrial society. The owners of industries and managers of business are as much interested in the widespread distribution and consumption of products as Mr. Maurer can be. There is no use for capital except in supplying the wants of the population, no need for investments or chance for profits unless the people are able to buy the products. If profits are large, the amount of new capital available for investments will be large, the demand for labor will increase, the expansion of production will be rapid, and more goods will come on the market for distribution.

Mr. Maurer is right in one respect, whether he grasps the full significance of his assumption or not, and that is that the true measure of the distribution of wealth is in the distribution of consumable products, rather than in the ownership of productive property. The value of the latter is in the goods produced and they must be followed into consumption to determine who derives the benefits. When this is done the fallacy of current theories that two or three percent of the population derive most of the benefits from the country's existing wealth is clearly apparent. The employment of the industries is in producing goods for the masses of the people, and there is bound to be such a continual readjustment of wages and prices as will enable the consuming public to take the current production off the market, otherwise there would be an accumulation and glut, investments would become unprofitable, and further accumulations of capital useless.

THE EMPLOYING CLASS

The proportion of the country's industrial product that is consumed by the people included in what Mr. Maurer calls the "capitalist class and all their lackeys" is a very small part of the total. The number of personal incomes of $10,000 per year and over in this country in 1917 was reported by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at 161,996, and the number of $5,000 and over at 432,662. A large part of the larger incomes is not expended upon consumption but goes back into the industries for their development. But if the total of all personal incomes of $10,000 and over was distributed to 110,000,000 people the result would be only $32 to each, while if the total of all incomes of $5,000 and over were divided the result would be only $44 each.

No thinking person will dismiss the entire class of proprietors and highly-paid experts as contributing nothing to production. Most of them have made their own way and come to the front through their qualities of leadership and abilities to accomplish results. They have accomplished the innovations which have made the productive power of the American workman double that of any other workman in the world.

If Mr. Maurer's contention is correct, that the present owners and managers of industry are superfluous, why not proceed to eliminate them by the old-fashioned process of competition? Any service that is unheeded can be dispensed with without a revolution. There are 2,000,000 railway employees in the United States, whose incomes average over $1,500 per year, and if they were to save on an average $50 per year each they could buy control of the New York Central system in one year; of Baltimore & Ohio and Erie together in less time, and of all the through lines between Chicago and New York within five years, at present market prices for the stocks. We offer the suggestion as a substitute for the Plumb plan, and it can be adapted for application to the other industries.

IN DEFENSE OF DR. TSIANG

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir:—With reference to disturbances in this city over the high cost of rice, I wish, as a personal friend of Dr. Tsiang and as one who knows him intimately, to say a little with regard to his true character.

Dr. Tsiang has lived in Chinkiang for upwards of thirty years and is well known for his good deeds in treating many patients at his Clinic Hall, not infrequently doing so free of charge. Besides were those who falsely accuse him now, to speak the truth, they would tell how during the Second Revolution he along with several other prominent citizens saved the city from danger, and how frequently he has given largely to charitable objects for the good of the people at large.

It is unfortunate that idle rumors so frequently are brought to the doors of those who are best known and ought to be most highly thought of. Ignorant and thoughtless people, no doubt anxious to blame some one, have accordingly blamed Dr. Tsiang. Notices inserted on the Chinese papers by fellow church members, business friends, members of the Ningpo Club and personal friends of Dr. Tsiang's show conclusively that Dr. Tsiang has not in the least been guilty of exporting rice with a view to enhancing the price. As one who knows Dr. Tsiang's affairs thoroughly I would like to deny these charges from start to finish.

I shall be very grateful if you will give publication to this letter.

Yours etc.,

Discourses Of A Scientist

By EDGAR LUCIEN LARKIN
(Director of Mt. Lowe Observatory)

Larger by far and more magnificent than the Capitol building in Washington will be the colossal Temple of Peace—harmony, amity, commerce, art and science—soon to be erected in beautiful Los Angeles. It is to be the most beautiful building ever reared by the hand of man.

The roof will not be plated with gold, as was Herod's temple on hill Moriah in Jeriah in Jerusalem; nor lined with ivory as is the Taj Mahal in India, nor with gems as is the temple of Semiramis in Babylon, nor engraved with cuneiform letters, nor in hieroglyphics as were the temples at Ninevah, in Mesopotamia, Meroe, Thebes, Memphis, Oz, Hexopolis, Dendereh and Sais, in Ethiopia and Egypt. Nor will it have 1,500 rooms underground and 1,500 above, as was the plan of the world's most intricate building, the vast Labyrinth at Arsinoe on the shores of Lake Moeris in Egypt. Nor will it be made of aluminum and roofed with orochaleum as was the stupendous religious temple in the city of Calpnul, capital magnificent of the now sunken continent Atlantis.

The new temple will be made of granite in foundation and upon this will rise the mighty palace of pure white marble, reinforced concrete and heavy columns, girders and braces of structural steel. It is to be builded by the Society of American Republic.

Three Presidents and eighteen Governors have so far sent letters of warm approval, also ambassadors or ministers of Costa Rica, Brazil, Peru, Argentina, Cuba, Colombia, Salvador, Bolivia, Ecuador, Guatemala, Nicaragua and Chile. Many U. S. Senators and Congressmen, judges, attorneys, literary men, also scientific, together with clergymen and bishops and many prominent educators, business men, railway chiefs—these all and more are in accord. Many leading women are at work to advance the great cause.

Science, from low to high, is to be provided with chambers and lecture halls. It will be a temple, or art beside which all others, at least within historic times, will subside into insignificance. The choicest, most artistic and beautiful paintings of the Master Artists in the twenty-one republics will adorn acres of walls in the new temple. The library will be as large, if not larger, then the National Library in Washington. Statuary halls will surpass those in the British museum, the Louvre and Vatican. The building will be larger than St. Peter's. A magnificent park will surround the edifice. This will be a wilderness of botanical splendor. Luxuriant tropical plants will grow in profusion, and no words will be able to describe the flowers.

The main object of the Society of American Republics is to associate into one organic body the men and women prominent in all of the American Republics and to foster a more intimate social intercourse in commerce, customs and ideals. The building of this Temple of Peace and Commerce by the English and Latin-speaking American Republics as a perpetual and mutual pledge of peace is to be financed by the nations, through Congressional enactments by each. It is to be an International Shrine. It will be a historical museum and library, perpetuating all noted events in all of the western hemispheres since the landing of Columbus.

Each nation is to have a Chamber of History. Scientific men of each republic will furnish accurate accounts of their work and discoveries. A copy of every book published and of every newspaper in all these nations from first to last will be deposited.

The gigantic auditorium will seat 20,000, and will be a world center for the exploitation of the intellectual advance of man. There will be a Hall of Fame where statues and portraits of all who have "made good" will be displayed. One wing will be simply a Palace of Music. The good Latin and Anglo-Saxon musicians will sing to their hearts' content the blessed songs of peace.

Every known convenience for visitors from all nations will be provided. Annual conventions of all kinds of societies will be held here—and there are so many that most of the days of the year will witness doings. So immense will be the wondrous structure that half a dozen meetings can be held simultaneously and not interfere. And there will be rooms, playgrounds and every device for children. The women will plan all of these and manage. One object of the founders of the Western League of Nations is to annihilate child labor, the worst type of human slavery.

The mighty palace of peace, science, art, music, literature, drama, commerce and national mutual good will is to be the property of the nations, not of California. It is to cost at least $20,000,000 for the bare building alone, the grounds more millions, and the precious historic and artistic contents and books will run into many additional millions. Its location is to be the large area bounded by North Broadway, Sunset Boulevard, Hill and Temple streets, between the center of Los Angeles and Pasadena.

Abolition Of Marriage Proposed In France

A terrible remedy for depopulation in France is suggested by Dr. Paul Carnot in Paris Medical. He points out that the French race will be swept out of existence within twenty years unless French women make what he calls a "superhuman effort of maternity;" there are now in France 2,000,000 unmaried women capable of becoming mothers, but for whom it will be impossible to find husbands, owing to the slaughter of men during the war: there are in all Europe now 15,000,000 more women than men.

Dr. Carnot rejects both the solutions that have been offered: (1) to marry French women to foreigners; (2) to permit polygamy for a certain period, his reason against the latter being that men under existing circumstances find it difficult enough to support one wife, let alone several.

What Dr. Carnot suggests is the abolition of marriage in favor of the matriarchal family supported by the state, in which there would be no husband, but which would consist of mothers and children only. The supreme law of a race, he argues, is not to perish, and, socially speaking, every woman ought to become a mother. Motherhood, he argues, should be an honorable and highly recompensed career, and she should be well paid by the state for every child she contributes to it. And he adds that all those who have failed to fulfil their duties to the state in the matter of bearing children should be compelled to leave their money to support the children of those who have.

As will be seen from this brief abstract, Dr. Carnot leaves out of his consideration the sacredness of marriage and the repugnance of all decent women to lowering themselves to the status of beasts. However materialistic the men of France may have become, French women still cling tenaciously to the old ideals of wifehood and motherhood.

Fear Diseases Borne By Airplane

Here is a brand new peril. Whoever would have imagined that the aeroplane would be attacked as a possible carrier of disease? Yet this is just what Prof. H. Maxwell Lefroy did in a lecture at the Royal Institution (London). He was talking about the way in which insect pests had been carried by men from one country to another.

The London correspondent of the Journal of the American Medical Association writes that Prof. Lefory said the greatest carrier of pest-carrying insects was the airplane, which picked up insects, landed in a field, and deposited them, all within a few hours. The airplane was truly the disseminator of crop pests. During Dr. Chalmers Mitchell's flying trip through Africa, his airplane, while on the ground, had been attacked by white ants. The airplane could easily pick up the yellow fever breeding mosquito and bring it to another land within the space of a few hours. The tsetse fly, which engendered the African sleeping sickness, could be taken from West Africa to Brazil in a few hours. Among the insects the most to be dreaded was the chinch-bug, which in 1864 caused a loss of $73,000,000 worth of wheat.

When Not To Try To Stop A Cough

There are several kinds of coughs, and it is not always wise to try to stop them. Dr. H. Laveson in the Indianapolis Medical Journal writes that the cough should be checked as far as possible when it is produced by an irritation of the mucous membrance or when the cough is in excess of what is needful to get rid of the mucus in the throat. On the other hand, when there is excessive secretion of mucus and the cough is insufficient to bring it up and get rid of it, especially if the patient be very weak, then the physician will try to increase instead of suppress the cough.

In the former case the cough is increasing the irritation and doing harm, in the second it is doing good. Dr. Laveson recommends inhalations of vapors or the fumes of medicated sprays as means of allaying coughs and lessening irritation of the mucous membranes. Mustard plasters over the whole chest are serviceable by producing counter-irritation.

And this, in his opinion, is the most effective general remedy for colds:

Liquire potassi citratis aa VI grams
Liquor ammonii acetatis aa VI grams
Spiritus aetheris nitrosi aa VI grams
Sodii benzoatis .....II grams
Syrupi acidi citrici q. s. III ounces

Mix. Take a teaspoonful in water every two hours.

WEATHER

The barometer is falling between the Philippines and the Marianas. The Southern depression will cause rough weather around Hongkong. Normal monsoon to the North of the Saddles. Fine and hot weather.

The War In China

ON yesterday's news the Chihli faction undoubtedly has, temporarily or otherwise, gained the upper hand. Wu Pei-fu who seems to be an unusually able Chinese General, has capped his recent successful performances, by luring a large part of Field Marshal Tuan's army into a trap, forcing several regiments to surrender and the others to flee.

Chang Tso-lin seems definitely to have joined hands with the Chihli group, for his troops are reported as pouring through Tientsin on their way to aid Tsao Kun. In the Yangtsze Valley, Gen. Li Shun, Tuchun of this province, with an army of nearly 40,000 well equipped troops, holds Gen. Lu, the Anfu Tuchun of Chekiang in check, while in the Hankow district Gen. Wang appears to have scotched the Anfu chieftain in a most sensational way.

The Yangtsze valley now seems to be wholly in the hands of Tuan's enemies, although it is not likely that they will for the present attempt to take active part in the fighting up north. Another event in favor of the Chihli group is the absence from his base of Tuchun Ni Shih-chung of Anhwei. He is at Tientsin with little hope of being able to get back to his troops.

But the outcome is by no means certain. What are the Japanese going to do? Are they prepared to desert their friend Tuan? It may seem somewhat offensive for us to ask this question in view of the official statements issued from Tokio and from the local Japanese Consulate. These official statements gave categorical assurance of Japan's determination to maintain an attitude of neutrality and non-interference in the present warfare in China. Yet on top of these statements we have the following despatch from Reuter's:

Tientsin, July 17, 1:20 p.m.

When the party of British, American, French and Japanese military officers, who went up the line to Yangtsun yesterday in a special train to investigate the cutting of the railway, reached Peitsang, they were informed by General Tsao Ying, brother of Tuchun Tsao Kun, and the local commander, that the Japanese guard at Yangtsun station had compelled him to retreat. General Tsao Ying stated that he had placed guns on both sides of the bridge at the approach to the station, some of the guns being near the Japanese post. Just as the Anfuites attacked, the Japanese commandant complained of the presence of the artillery and insisted that the Chihli troops and guns should be removed to a distance of two miles on either side of the railway. General Tsao remonstrated but in vain. Compliance with the Japanese commandant's demand involved placing a gap of four miles between the two bodies of Chihli troops on either side of the line.

The Chihli officers are very bitter over the Yangtsun affair: they even allege that the Japanese fired on them.

Keep your eye on the Japanese. They were not merely trying to keep the line to Peking open, for after cutting the Chihli troops into two armies four miles apart, they let the Anfuites pour into the gap. Besides this matter is not in the hands of the Japanese. It is an international program and as such is being handled by an commission. And in this connection it is to be remembered that Tuan still holds the capital tightly in his grip. So long as he does this the possibilities of a deal with the Japanese are not remote.

LINES FROM LETTERS

Dear Mutt: I arrived in Shanghai and was told by the local folk that the weather was fairly cool but as Summer Mering says "If this is cool weather then the last hot spell has had a prodigious hang over." One of the first people I met at the Astor was Mrs. Jiggs. She is doing her best to get into society and has already purchased a lap dog which she feeds on champagne, carries about in a motor, and signs chits for. She is also taking lessons in Jazzing. Jiggs created quite an impression when taken to the Club. Ladies are not admitted here and Jiggs is trying to get rooms. But more later. Yours,

—JEFF.

SALISBURY

Salisbury is a quaint old cathedral town in Wiltshire which has a graceful spire. The architecture is a fine example of the Norman.

There is yet another Salisbury. He is as quaint as the city, has arrived when we are all wilting, has brought with him a pack of other Quaints who will appear with their graceful show at the Lyceum Theater whose architecture is not Norman, tomorrow night. Salisbury aspires to please the local playgoer as much as he did London audiences.

'Produce More'—What For?

(From the Bulletin of the National City Bank)

Under the above heading one of the radical publications which is doing what it can to discourage and lower production in a time when the world's needs are greater than ever before, produces an article by James H. Maurer, President of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, which on account of his position in the labor world may well receive attention. The article is given verbatim below.

BY JAMES H. MAURER

"Speed up; work like blazes; produce more! The world needs our goods—produce, PRODUCE, PRODUCE!

"Manufacturers, big and little and politicians from the President down to the ward heeler, are dinning into the ears of the workers the "necessity" for greater production. They tell us workers that the trouble is that we aren't producing enough, that the world needs "our" goods, and that to solve the problem of greater production we must speed up. Let us examine the facts.

"For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, the total excess of exports over imports of all commodities was $13,351,906,082. This means that the workers of the United States supported themselves, supported the unemployed within their ranks, supported the entire military forces within the confines of the country, supported the vast body of useless political functionaries and investigation committees, supported the capitalist class and all their lackeys, and on top of all this produced enough food, clothing, shelter, fuel and other commodities to export nearly thirteen and one-half billions worth more in a single year than was imported.

"You who are the workers sent out of the country 178,583,000 bushels of wheat during that year. Did any of you have too much bread? Did any of you have even enough bread?

"You also sent out 27,450,000 bushels of rye, and 24,190,000 barrels of wheat flour and 1,488,000 barrels of rye flour. You sent away five times as much wheat and twice as much rye as in 1918. And between 1914 and 1919 you increased the amount of steam tonnage of the United States by more than 382 percent.

"With a sudden burst of generosity you sent away 1,115,865,000 pounds of sugar last year and 136,230,000 pounds of glucose. Having become used to going without bacon you exported 1,239,540,000 pounds of it to other countries. Not having much bread you sent away 33,740,000 pounds of butter and over eighteen and a half million pounds of oleomargarine. The weight of condensed milk you were not able to buy back with your wages amounted to 728,741,000 pounds.

"Just for good luck we offer a few more authentic figures which you might clip out and paste in your shoddy hat for future reference.

"With but six percent of the population of the world and only seven percent of the land, the United States—that means US—produces:

Eighty-five percent of the world's supply of automobiles; seventy-five percent of the world's supply of corn; sixty-six percent of the world's supply of oil; sixty percent of the world's supply of copper; sixty percent of the world's supply of aluminum; sixty percent of the world's supply of cotton; fifty percent of the world's supply of zinc; forty-two percent of the world's supply of coal; forty percent of the world's supply of lead; forty percent of the world's supply of silver; forty percent of the world's supply of steel; twenty-five percent of the world's supply of wheat; twenty percent of the world's supply of gold, and refines; eighty percent of the copper, and operates forty percent of the world's railroads.

"Increase production? Produce more commodities? What for? Aren't the workers now producing billions of dollars worth more than their wages will buy back—more than they are permitted to consume? Is increased production the solution for the problems confronting the workers?

"The figures you have just read say "No!"

"The problem for the worker is, not increased production, but increased consumption. Not how to produce more, but how to consume more."

The outstanding statement of this article is that during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1919, the exports of commodities from this country exceeded imports by the sum of $13,357,906,082. Upon these figures Mr. Maurer builds his theory that the workers are producing vastly more than is distributed to them, and that therefore they have nothing to gain by producing more.

These figures are grossly erroneous; in fact they exceed the total of both exports and imports for the fiscal year named. The official figures of our foreign trade for that year are, exports $7,225,084,257, imports $3,095,876,728, trade balance $4,129,207,675. So Mr. Maurer's foundation statement is only 30 percent true.

There are no census figures for the total production of commodities in the United States in that year, but reckoning from previous figures and allowing for the existing prices, it probably amounted to $70,000,000,000, of which the excess of exports over imports would be about 6 percent.

The trade balance of last year was an abnormal one, due to the prostration of European industries. The people of Europe were under the necessity of importing heavily and at high prices. The larger part of our exports were farm products, food stuffs and necessaries, without which the sufferings and loss of life of the population of Europe would have been far greater than they were. Thanks to the farmers, not many of whom are under the influence of the doctrines set forth above, the country produced sufficient to allow of these agricultural exports and to save Europe from starvation. Has America done too much in the face of a world calamity, and does Mr. Maurer think the members of his Federation would have been better off, or as well off, if in the face of this emergency the farmers had suddenly determined to restrict their labors to eight hours per day?

FIGURES CORRECT

The figures which are given by Mr. Maurer for the percentages of the important commodities produced in the United States are probably about correct. They make a showing for the enterprise and efficiency of the people of this country of which we may be proud. This is what the industrial system of United States has accomplished. The productive power of the people of this country is greater than that of the people of any other country, mainly because industry in this country works by superior methods and with superior mechanical equipment, and under greater incentive to individual exertion. The investment of capital is larger in the industries of this country, and the share of the work done by machinery is larger than in other countries.

The country nearest to the United States in this share of the work done by machinery is larger, England was far behind.

In 1913 there were published in The London Times and other English periodicals tables compiled from the British Census of Production (1907) and the American census of 1909, showing the total annual production, the number of wage-earners, the horse-power employed, and the annual value per wage-earner in 26 leading manufactures. Seventeen of these were recently reproduced in an article in the London Times, and are representative. They are given below. Values are converted at $5 to the pound sterling.

The superiority of the United States in power equipment means a greater capital investment in the industries, and this accounts for the greater volume of product. It has resulted in a more abundant supply of all the comforts of life, higher wages and a larger and more widespread distribution and consumption than exists in any other country. These results are all related to each other, so that as production increases they all increase in corresponding degree. If all the forces that are working to embarrass and restrict production in this country were turned over to assist it, it is probably not too much to say that the results obtained might compare with present results as favorably as results in the United States have compared with results in England.

IMPROVEMENTS IN INDUSTRY

Some months ago we quoted from another English writer figures taken from the same comparative statement of British and American industry, showing that over a term of years the average production of bituminous coal for each miner in the United States was 550 tons and in England 270 tons, which is the more interesting in view of recent revelations that the miners in the United States are not employed more than about two-thirds of the time. It was said that the superior output in the case of coal was due to the use of coal cutting machinery in the United States, and in view of Mr. Maurer's contention that the services of employers or capitalists are superfluous, it may be said that the introduction of coal cutting machinery, even in this country has been commonly opposed by the labor organisations. Indeed it must be taken into account that although there are many creditable exceptions among the labor leaders, the attitude of the organisations usually has been antagonistic to innovations and improvements which have the immediate effect of displacing labor. This attitude may be explained and excused even while it is condemned; employers have not always been properly considerate of the workers in introducing new methods but, after all, society is interested in progress in industry, and organised labor has often opposed changes which have proved enormously beneficial to the working people themselves.

It will be instructive to look over the above showing of this country's share in the world's industries, and consider the uses of the products named, and how wage-earners, farmers and the great body of the people generally would be affected by increasing or diminishing their production.

The list heads with automobiles, which come nearer to being appurtenances of the rich than anything else on it, but as 60 percent of all the cars made are Fords and probably 85 percent are of the cheaper makes, it can hardly be said that the rich absorb a very excessive share even of automobiles.

Corn, of which we produce 75 percent of the world's supply, is a common source of sustenance for the whole population; oil, as a source of light, fuel and by-products for the industries, is of common service, and so is copper, zinc and coal, the latter being the chief source of power for all the industries; steel is devoted to the industries; cotton is the clothing material of the millions. Who will be most benefited by greater abundance of all these products, the rich or the poor? Who gets the bulk of these products, or the service from them now, and who will derive the benefits of increased production?

It is remarkable that the United States should have 40 percent of the railroad mileage of the world, but can anyone argue that it has more railroad service than it needs, or that the rich enjoy most of the benefits of railroad service? Industry is embarrassed in all parts of the country now, because of the inadequacy of railroad service, partly resulting from discontent stimulated by such reasoning as is set forth in the article quoted above, and partly because there is a lack of available capital to provide needed equipment and make needed improvements.

The quoted article is typical of the agitation which is deranging industry, curtailing production, raising the cost of living and obstructing the world's recovery from the losses of the war. The author of it plainly has no conception of the fundamental reciprocity which exists throughout modern industrial society. The owners of industries and managers of business are as much interested in the widespread distribution and consumption of products as Mr. Maurer can be. There is no use for capital except in supplying the wants of the population, no need for investments or chance for profits unless the people are able to buy the products. If profits are large, the amount of new capital available for investments will be large, the demand for labor will increase, the expansion of production will be rapid, and more goods will come on the market for distribution.

Mr. Maurer is right in one respect, whether he grasps the full significance of his assumption or not, and that is that the true measure of the distribution of wealth is in the distribution of consumable products, rather than in the ownership of productive property. The value of the latter is in the goods produced and they must be followed into consumption to determine who derives the benefits. When this is done the fallacy of current theories that two or three percent of the population derive most of the benefits from the country's existing wealth is clearly apparent. The employment of the industries is in producing goods for the masses of the people, and there is bound to be such a continual readjustment of wages and prices as will enable the consuming public to take the current production off the market, otherwise there would be an accumulation and glut, investments would become unprofitable, and further accumulations of capital useless.

THE EMPLOYING CLASS

The proportion of the country's industrial product that is consumed by the people included in what Mr. Maurer calls the "capitalist class and all their lackeys" is a very small part of the total. The number of personal incomes of $10,000 per year and over in this country in 1917 was reported by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue at 161,996, and the number of $5,000 and over at 432,662. A large part of the larger incomes is not expended upon consumption but goes back into the industries for their development. But if the total of all personal incomes of $10,000 and over was distributed to 110,000,000 people the result would be only $32 to each, while if the total of all incomes of $5,000 and over were divided the result would be only $44 each.

No thinking person will dismiss the entire class of proprietors and highly-paid experts as contributing nothing to production. Most of them have made their own way and come to the front through their qualities of leadership and abilities to accomplish results. They have accomplished the innovations which have made the productive power of the American workman double that of any other workman in the world.

If Mr. Maurer's contention is correct, that the present owners and managers of industry are superfluous, why not proceed to eliminate them by the old-fashioned process of competition? Any service that is unneeded can be dispensed with without a revolution. There are 2,000,000 railway employees in the United States, whose incomes average over $1,500 per year, and if they were to save on an average $50 per year each they could buy control of the New York Central system in one year; of Baltimore & Ohio and Erie together in less time, and of all the through lines between Chicago and New York within five years, at present market prices for the stocks. We offer the suggestion as a substitute for the Plumb plan, and it can be adapted for application to the other industries.

Correspondence

IN DEFENSE OF DR. TSIANG

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir:—With reference to disturbances in this city over the high cost of rice, I wish, as a personal friend of Dr. Tsiang and as one who knows him intimately, to say a little with regard to his true character.

Dr. Tsiang has lived in Chinkiang for upwards of thirty years and is well known for his good deeds in treating many patients at his Clinic Hall, not infrequently doing so free of charge. Besides were those who falsely accuse him now, to speak the truth, they would tell how during the Second Revolution he along with several other prominent citizens saved the city from danger, and how frequently he has given largely to charitable objects for the good of the people at large.

It is unfortunate that idle rumors so frequently are brought to the doors of those who are best known and ought to be most highly thought of. Ignorant and thoughtless people, no doubt anxious to blame some one, have accordingly blamed Dr. Tsiang. Notices inserted on the Chinese papers by fellow church members, business friends, members of the Ningpo Club and personal friends of Dr. Tsiang's show conclusively that Dr. Tsiang has not in the least been guilty of exporting rice with a view to enhancing the price. As one who knows Dr. Tsiang's affairs thoroughly I would like to deny these charges from start to finish.

I shall be very grateful if you will give publication to this letter.

Yours etc.,
H. K. Ying, B. A.

Discourses Of A Scientist

By EDGAR LUCIEN LARKIN
(Director of Mt. Lowe Observatory)

Larger by far and more magnificent than the Capitol building in Washington will be the colossal Temple of Peace—harmony, amity, commerce, art and science—soon to be erected in beautiful Los Angeles. It is to be the most beautiful building ever reared by the hand of man.

The roof will not be plated with gold, as was Herod's temple on hill Moriah in Jeriah in Jerusalem; nor lined with ivory as is the Taj Mahal in India, nor with gems as is the temple of Semiramis in Babylon, nor engraved with cuneiform letters, nor in hieroglyphics as were the temples at Ninevah, in Mesopotamia, Meroe, Thebes, Memphis, Oz, Hexopolis, Dendereh and Sais, in Ethiopia and Egypt. Nor will it have 1,500 rooms underground and 1,500 above, as was the plan of the world's most intricate building, the vast Labyrinth at Arsinoe on the shores of Lake Moeris in Egypt. Nor will it be made of aluminum and roofed with orochaleum as was the stupendous religious temple in the city of Caipnul, capital magnificent of the now sunken continent Atlantis.

The new temple will be made of granite in foundation and upon this will rise the mighty palace of pure white marble, reinforced concrete and heavy columns, girders and braces of structural steel. It is to be builded by the Society of American Republic.

Three Presidents and eighteen Governors have so far sent letters of warm approval, also ambassadors or ministers of Costa Rica, Brazil, Peru, Argentina, Cuba, Colombia, Salvador, Bolivia, Ecuador, Guatemala, Nicaragua and Chile. Many U. S. Senators and Congressmen, judges, attorneys, literary men, also scientific, together with clergymen and bishops and many prominent educators, business men, railway chiefs—these all and more are in accord. Many leading women are at work to advance the great cause.

Science, from low to high, is to be provided with chambers and lecture halls. It will be a temple, or art beside which all others, at least within historic times, will subside into insignificance. The choicest, most artistic and beautiful paintings of the Master Artists in the tweaty-one republics will adorn acres of walls in the new temple. The library will be as large, if not larger, then the National Library in Washington. Statuary halls will surpass those in the British museum, the Louvre and Vatican. The building will be larger than St. Peter's. A magnificent park will surround the edifice. This will be a wilderness of botanical splendor. Luxuriant tropical plants will grow in profusion, and no words will be able to describe the flowers.

The main object of the Society of American Republics is to associate into one organic body the men and women prominent in all of the American Republics and to foster a more intimate social intercourse in commerce, customs and ideals. The building of this Temple of Peace and Commerce by the English and Latin-speaking American Republics as a perpetual and mutual pledge of peace is to be financed by the nations, through Congressional enactments by each. It is to be an International Shrine. It will be a historical museum and library, perpetuating all noted events in all of the western hemispheres since the landing of Columbus.

Each nation is to have a Chamber of History. Scientific men of each republic will furnish accurate accounts of their work and discoveries. A copy of every book published and of every newspaper in all these nations from first to last will be deposited.

The gigantic auditorium will seat 20,000, and will be a world center for the exploitation of the intellectual advance of man. There will be a Hall of Fame where statues and portraits of all who have "made good" will be displayed. One wing will be simply a Palace of Music. The good Latin and Anglo-Saxon musicians will sing to their hearts' content the blessed songs of peace.

Every known convenience for visitors from all nations will be provided. Annual conventions of all kinds of societies will be held here—and there are so many that most of the days of the year will witness doings. So immense will be the wondrous structure that half a dozen meetings can be held simultaneously and not interfere. And there will be rooms, playgrounds and every device for children. The women will plan all of these and manage. One object of the founders of the Western League of Nations is to annihilate child labor, the worst type of human slavery.

The mighty palace of peace, science, art, music, literature, drama, commerce and national mutual good will is to be the property of the nations, not of California. It is to cost at least $20,000,000 for the bare building alone, the grounds more millions, and the precious historic and artistic contents and books will run into many additional millions. Its location is to be the large area bounded by North Broadway, Sunset Boulevard, Hill and Temple streets, between the center of Los Angeles and Pasadena.

Abolition Of Marriage Proposed In France

A terrible remedy for depopulation in France is suggested by Dr. Paul Carnot in Paris Medical. He points out that the French race will be swept out of existence within twenty years unless French women make what he calls a "superhuman effort of maternity;" there are now in France 2,000,000 unmaried women capable of becoming mothers, but for whom it will be impossible to find husbands, owing to the slaughter of men during the war: there are in all Europe now 15,000,000 more women than men.

Dr. Carnot rejects both the solutions that have been offered: (1) to marry French women to foreigners; (2) to permit polygamy for a certain period, his reason against the latter being that men under existing circumstances find it difficult enough to support one wife, let alone several.

What Dr. Carnot suggests is the abolition of marriage in favor of the matriarchal family supported by the state, in which there would be no husband, but which would consist of mothers and children only. The supreme law of a race, he argues, is not to perish, and, socially speaking, every woman ought to become a mother. Motherhood, he argues, should be an honorable and highly recompensed career, and she should be well paid by the state for every child she contributes to it. And he adds that all those who have failed to fulfil their duties to the state in the matter of bearing children should be compelled to leave their money to support the children of those who have.

As will be seen from this brief abstract, Dr. Carnot leaves out of his consideration the sacredness of marriage and the repugnance of all decent women to lowering themselves to the status of beasts. However materialistic the men of France may have become, French women still cling tenaciously to the old ideals of wifehood and motherhood.

Fear Diseases Borne By Airplane

Here is a brand new peril. Whoever would have imagined that the aeroplane would be attacked as a possible carrier of disease? Yet this is just what Prof. H. Maxwell Lefroy did in a lecture at the Royal Institution (London). He was talking about the way in which insect pests had been carried by men from one country to another.

The London correspondent of the Journal of the American Medical Association writes that Prof. Lefory said the greatest carrier of pest-carrying insects was the airplane, which picked up insects, landed in a field, and deposited them, all within a few hours. The airplane was truly the disseminator of crop pests. During Dr. Chalmers Mitchell's flying trip through Africa, his airplane, while on the ground, had been attacked by white ants. The airplane could easily pick up the yellow fever breeding mosquito and bring it to another land within the space of a few hours. The tsetse fly, which engendered the African sleeping sickness, could be taken from West Africa to Brazil in a few hours. Among the insects the most to be dreaded was the chinch-bug, which in 1864 caused a loss of $73,000,000 worth of wheat.

When Not To Try To Stop A Cough

There are several kinds of coughs, and it is not always wise to try to stop them. Dr. H. Laveson in the Indianapolis Medical Journal writes that the cough should be checked as far as possible when it is produced by an irritation of the mucous membrance or when the cough is in excess of what is needful to get rid of the mucus in the throat. On the other hand, when there is excesive secretion of mucus and the cough is insufficient to bring it up and get rid of it, especially if the patient be very weak, then the physician will try to increase instead of suppress the cough.

In the former case the cough is increasing the irritation and doing harm, in the second it is doing good. Dr. Laveson recommends inhalations of vapors or the fumes of medicated sprays as means of allaying coughs and lessening irritation of the mucous membranes. Mustard plasters over the whole chest are serviceable by producing counter-irritation.

And this, in his opinion, is the most effective general remedy for colds:

Liquire potassi citratis aa VI grams
Liquor ammonii acetatis aa VI grams
Spiritus aetheris nitrosi aa VI grams
Sodii benzoatis .....II grams
Syrupi acidi citrici q. s. III ounces

Mix. Take a teaspoonful in water every two hours.
